Senate for Extension Draft Law

Until July 1; Action Taken Today When British Loan Bill Was Laid Aside

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The Senate approved unanimously today an extension of Selective Service until July 1.

The action came on adoption of a joint resolution by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) after the Senate had temporarily laid aside the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

If the measure later is approved by the house the draft act would be continued in its present form for a month and a half beyond its May 15th expiration date.

Democratic Leader Barkley noted that the extension also would keep alive until July 1 President Truman's authority, under the Smith-Connally amendment to the selective service act, to seize the struck coal mines.

Barkley earlier had told the senate this authority would expire May 15 unless the draft law is extended.

Barkley fought a move to sidetrack the $3,750,000,000 British loan in favor of labor control legislation. The administration wants to consider the draft law extension as soon as a final vote is taken on the loan bill.

In Opposition

Taking the floor in opposition to a move by Senators Eastland (D-Miss), Byrd (D-Va) and others, Barkley told his colleagues bluntly that he does not believe the senate now knows what kind of labor legislation it wants to pass.

He said that unless the selective service law is kept alive, the Smith-Connally act authority for the president to take over the struck mines will expire with it because that measure amended the draft law.

Mr. Truman told his news conference earlier in the day that he will cross the mine seizure bridge when he comes to it. Barkley's insistence on draft extension indicates consideration of such a move.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) said today he will offer legislation for 30-day draft law extension if the senate appears determined to take up labor control legislation immediately.

President Truman, at a news conference, said the draft law was in a bad situation. He said he urged its extension as long ago as September.

Democrati Leader Barkley (Ky) told reporters he will move, as soon as the senate completes action on the British loan bill, to take up a committee-approved measure which would extend selective service for a year but limit service of inductees to 18 months.

Barkley said he will press his motion against an expected attempt by a group led by Senator Eastland (D-Miss) to force before the senate a revised version of the house-approved Case strike control bill.

The draft law expires May 15.

Gurney said he and other supporters of a full year's extension of the draft would support Barkley's position. If the senate decides to act on labor legislation, he said he then will offer the 30-day extender to prevent a lapse in the functions of selective service.

Differ Widely

House and senate proposals for draft extension differ widely.

"Draft extension is next on the most list," Barkley reiterated to a reporter as demands increased that the senate either lay aside the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill or follow it it immediately with legislation designed to end the nation-wide soft coal strike.

Off-stage support for Barkley and other backers of a full-year peacetime extension on the draft act came meanwhile from the American Legion.

John Thomas Taylor, legislative spokesman here for the Legion, asserted in a statement that if congress fails to act before the May 15 deadline "millions of men and women still in the armed forces will lose their re-employment benefits."

Taylor suggested that this section of the draft act be extended immediately even if actual inductions are allowed to come to a halt."

Truman Does Not Yet Consider Foreign Ministers Parley Fails

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman told his news conference today that he did not yet consider the foreign ministers conference in Paris a failure.

When the time comes that it has broken down, he said, Secretary of State Byrnes will be authorized to make an announcement.

Some diplomatic authorities here, however, took the view that the conference had failed and that this meant a split of Europe into Soviet and western spheres.

Mr. Truman also told reporters he had not heard about any drastic change in American policy toward Russia because of the disagreements on major European peace issues which the Paris meeting has produced.

And, he remarked sharply, the president makes the foreign policies.

Mr. Truman was asked, too, whether he knew of the existence of a German army in the British zone of occupation in Germany. He said he did not think there is one.

Referred to Lippman

The questioner had referred to articles by Walter Lippman, New York Herald Tribune columnist, on conditions in Germany as a result of a personal study of conditions there.

Mr. Truman said he had read the articles and by way of comment remarked that hindsight is a great thing.

A reporter wanted to know whether in this case "hindsight is accurate." Mr. Truman said he couldn't answer that, that he had not been to Germany himself.

Diplomatic authorities here, taking a pessimistic view of the foreign ministers' meeting, look for impending developments to complete the cleavage between the areas of Russian dominance and those under the influence of the western powers, headed by the United States and Britain.

DECATUR, Ill., May 9—(AP)—Cal Waggoner, 85 year old Decatur banker who says he's lost only eight times in 40 years on his annual wagers that it will rain on May 10 is having a little trouble finding any takerse this year.

After nine consecutive rainy days, Waggoner said he was able to line up only three bets but he was "taking all comers."

"I'll prabably lose this time," he said, "But maybe it would be better for my business if I did. Then I could get plenty of bets next year."

Still Seeking Phantom Killer

TEXARKANA, Texas, May 9.—(AP)—Citizens of this bewildered, frightened city, scene of five murders in six weeks, slept easier last night as an augmented force of Texas peace officers patroled streets and highways, guarding against and seeking the phantom killer believed responsible for all of the slayings.

Ten new cars from the Texas department of public safety, plus a mobile three-way radio transmitter which keeps in contact with all patrol cars, arrived and immediately went into action.

Liquor dealers said in a joint statement they were immediately beginning a voluntary closing curfew at 9:30 p. m., because of the city's "state of mind."

"We do not wish to add further to the troubles of the police," the statement said.

Capt. M. T. Gonzaullas of the Texas Rangers said today he did not believe the man who boasted to a Lufkin negro that he was the killer, was the one sought here..

Life Termers Walked Away

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9.—(AP)—Two life termers who used a legal tangle to gain temporary freedom were apprehended this morning at Flat River and will be returned to the Missouri penitentiary, the State Highway Patrol annouced today

The Patrol said the men, Joseph Montgomery, 26, and Lawrence Young, 28, offered no resistance at being brought back for safe keeping until their legal status can be determined. They were sentenced to life terms from St. Francois county in February, 1941, on charges of kidnaping, robbery and car theft.

Last fall the Cole county circuit court granted writs of habeas corpur remanding the men to the St Francois county court for further action

Yesterday Sheriff Herman Heck of St. Francois county brought the pair to Jefferson City, but prison officials refused to accept them because the sheriff had no commitment papers. Later he took them to Sheriff Jobe's office and left them, then walked out.

Allen, contending that no one had a right to hold the men legally, told Sheriff Jobe the men should be permitted to go free.

"No objections were made to the jury and they just walked out."

Maids, bellboys and even the executive help began putting through the first batch of 800 sheets and pillow cases, 600 bath towels and 1,200 hand towels.

Famine Relief Is Inadequate

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—UNRRA Director General Fiorello Laguardia declared today that famine relief food allocations are "grossly inadequate," and besought countries with available supplies to help "prevent a catastrophe."

Laguardia placed before the 48-government council of the Interrelief organization the results of his study and efforts since the group adjourned five weeks ago at Atlantic City. And the situation outlined in his report appeared as bleak now as then.

Even before the session opened, a council move was anticipated to back Laguardia in seeking a bigger allocation from the combined food board, set up by Britain, Canada and the United States.

Laguardia declared in his report that UNRRA at present cannot learn "even a month in advance what it can count upon." This situation places receiving countries "in a hopeless position in attempting to plan food rationing," he added.

OK 3 Millions For Schools

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9—(AP)—An allotment of $3,225,600 for the State Board of Education and the schools which it controls was approved yesterday by the house appropriations committee.

The bill provides that approximately $2,201,500 be used for vocational education; $285,000 for the school for the deaf at Fulton; $130,000 for the school for the blind at St. Louis, and $212,500 for the board's central operation.

No appropriation was made for on-the-job training of veterans, but a separate bill to finance such training will be introduced later Department officials estimated that $200,000 would be needed for this purpose through the fiscal year.

One-Sentence Bill to Set Official Time

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 9—(AP)—A one-sentence bill to require that central standard time be the official time for Missouri was introduced in the state senate today by Senator W. W. Sunderwirth (R) of El Dorado Springs.

"There's been too much tampering with the clock," Sunderwirth declared.

Jefferson City was on day light time for five days recently, but the experiment was abandoned when state agencies declined to switch from standard time. Several eastern Missouri cities, including St. Louis, are on daylight saving.

Sedalia is Not Hard Hit By Coal Strike

Electricity is Supplied Through River Dam Project

Sedalia will not be threatened with a shortage of electricity because of the coal strike, H. C. Feuers, Manager of the Missouri Public Service Corp., in Sedalia, said this afternoon. Mr. Feuers said the only chance for such a curtailment would be a nation-wide "brownout", such as was imposed during the war.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9—(AP)—The Missouri Public Service Commission today authorized utilities in the state to "take necessary steps to bring about progressive curtailment of the electrical services as soon as your fuel and chemical supply in storage is reduced to a 30 day supply."

Commission Chairman Morris Orburn said the PSC had no authority to order reduction of coal consumption by railroads operating within the state of Missouri. He said that was up to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The "brown out" during the war was not necessary to have on fuel inasmuch as local electricity is supplied through the White River Dam project. In case of a let down through the supply from the White River Dam, the local power plant, which is used when heavy loads are necessary, is operated by natural gas and fuel oil.

"Coal has not been used at the local power plant for more than fifteen years", Mr. Feuers stated.

Laid In Coal

Sedalia water will not be affected by the coal strike at the present time I. H. Reed, manager of the Sedalia Water Co., announced this afternoon.

Mr. Reed said that when the coal strike was threatening he anticipated a lengthy time of settlement and laid in a coal supply which will keep the pumps at the pumping station, south of Sedalia in operation until at least July 15.

Preparing Site For Factory

Work has begun toward removing the old stove factory building, on the ground on North Park avenue, where the building to house the Home Building Corporation is to be constructed. The Menefee Construction company is on the job, draining an old pond, and the ground will be graded and put in shape. This is being done by the Missouri Pacific Railroad company which will then turn the site over to the Industrial Development disivion of the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the construction of the building.

The Home Building Corporation will build prefabricated houses.

When draining the pond workmen found large numbers of gold fish. John Lueck, fire chief, took some of them for the fire department aquarium.

Coal Shutdown Approaches Strike Against Government; Post Office Orders Embargo

On Shipments That Weigh More Than 11 Pounds; There are Some Exceptions

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The Post Office Department today ordered an embargo on parcel post shipments weighing more than 11 pounds, with certain exceptions.

The department said the embargo, effective at midnight, was ordered as a result of the coal strike and curtailment of mail service.

Four classes of goods are exempt: Live day-old poultry, seeds, plants and other nursery stock; eggs, butter and other perishable food products; and medicines, drugs surgical instruments and surgical dressings.

The department said the normal weight limitation on parcel post is 70 pounds, the size limitation is 100 inches, combined length and girth exceeds sixty inches.

Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan said in a statement that he acted at the request of the office of defense transportation and the association of American railroads.

Strike Briefs

DETROIT, May 9—(AP)—General Motors and Chrysler Corp. announced today the impending suspension of production in their assembly plants as a result of the rail embargo.

GM reported its plants would be closed within the next 10 days and Chrysler said all passenger car assembly lines will be down next week.

Chrysler said its truck assembly lines and other operations will continue to work. It attributed the impending supension of passenger car output to "shortage of parts aggravated by the coal strike and the rail embargo."

The GM and Chrysler announcement followed closely the decision of the Ford Motor Co. other member of the industry's "big three" to halt all output. Ford began its shutdown last night; General Motors said its assembly lines will begin to close next Monday, on a progressive basis.

KANSAS CITY, May 9.—(AP)—The Kansas City Southern railroad announced today it would lay off 50 percent of its 5,000 employes Monday because of the coal strike.

W. N. Deramus, president, said both service and jobs would have to be slashed in half.

All the road's coal-burning engines will go into division yards Monday and fires will be drawn, the announcement said. Deramus said oil-burning locomotives would be used but that the reduced traffic would not require all of them.

The layoff was expected to affect all departments of the road.

Senator From Maryland Dies

BALTIMORE, May 9.—(AP)—William Cabell Bruce, United States Senator from Maryland from 1923 to 1929, died today at his home here. He was 86.

Truman Questions Legality of Royalty Payment to the United Mine Workers

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—President Truman pictured the coal shutdown as approaching a strike against the government itself today and questioned the legality of a royalty payment to the United Mine Workers—a key in deadlocked negotiations.

1—Various ways of coping with the strike are under consideration, including a White House conference of operators and United Mine Workers.

2—As to government seizure of the idle mines, Mr. Truman will cross that bridge when he comes to it.

3—The President said he thought that a royalty payment to a union would be barred by a provision of the Wagner Labor Relation Act. He did not specify what provision. Coal operators say John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, is demanding a 10 cent a ton royalty on coal to finance a welfare fund for miners.

4—He would favor government seizure of the nation's railroads if that is necessary to keep trains running.

5—In discussing royalty payment, he said that while the Wage Stabilization Board approved a one percent pension fund payment to an AFL electrical workers union, by means of a payroll tax, he thought that was a different sort of thing from a royalty.

Greater Shortages

As Mr. Truman spoke, coal shortages cut deeper into industrial production and prompted government agencies to take new steps to conserve fuel—including a dimout in the East and Midwest.

Replying to a question, Mr. Truman said he is going into the matter now as to whether he has authority to end the 39-day old coal strike without the consent of John L. Lewis, president of 400,000 striking United Mine Workers.

But, he said he did not favor laying aside the British loan in the senate to take up labor legislation.

Mr. Truman termed the British loan as just as important.

Nor would the President commit himself one way or another on a proposal by Senator Lucas (D-Ill) which would empower him to seize plants to safeguard the public interest and to take away seniority rights of striking workers.

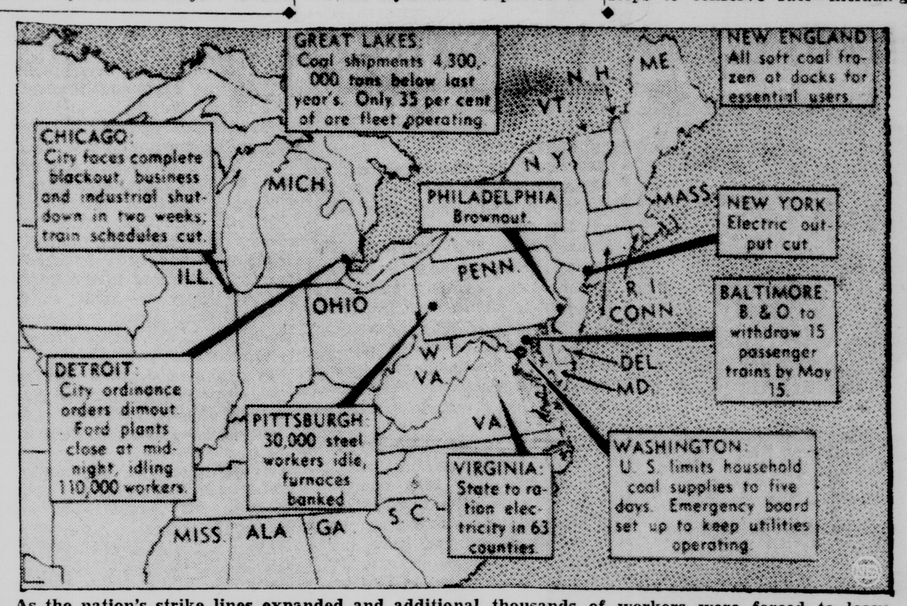

Statement Later

Mr. Truman was requested by a reporter to make some sort of statement that would "lay out the coal strike" as he sees it now so that his position would be known. Mr. Truman said he would rather not today but that he would later. He added he did not contemplate doing it in a message to the people.

One step under consideration, he said, is calling Lewis and the coal operators to a joint conference at the White House. Lewis saw Mr. Truman several weeks ago. But, the President wouldn't say today, what had been discussed then.

Mr. Truman last Saturday called the strike a "national disaster." Up to then the effect had been felt mainly by industry. Now, in its 39th day, it is hitting the man

Agree to Give Higher Wages

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9—(AP)—Agreement on a higher wage scale averted a strike of Capital City Telephone company local operators today. The walkout was to have started at 6 o'clock this morning if negotiations had failed.

Jack Crull of St. Louis, representing the Southwestern Telephone Union, said the new scale would give beginners $25 a week instead of $20 as formerly and the top after seven years would be $33 instead of $26. A differential was granted for operators working after 4 p. m. and all the workers will get one extra holiday a year.

Authorities have not identified the two men.

In Rome, Interior Minister Giuseppe Romita said the offer had been refused.

"The government absolutely will not deal on this," he declared. "Do you think we want a national monument at Predappio?"

Romita said the "remains apparently are hidden in Milan." The body was taken from an unmarked grave in a Milan potter's field.

Takes Two to Make Friends With Russia

Communistic Ambitions Enter Into Picture

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Winston Churchill calls for a faithful understanding with Russia through the United Nations to avoid war and urges the English-speaking world and the western democracies of Europe to move together in creating true fellowship with the Soviet Union.

That's well spoken. Few will disagree with Churchill for, as he adds, "only in this way can catastrophe be avoided." However, when we sit down to figure out ways and means of creating fellowship with Russia we encounter difficulties.

The first obstacle we come up against is that it takes two to make a friendship and that it involves at least a modicum of agreement on things which matter. There are as many points of disagreement between the western allies on the one hand and the Russians on the other as there are seeds in a pomegranite.

Way the Wind Lies

The trend of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers in Paris gives us a good indication of how the wind lies. The conferees have been unable to agree on any major point of the European peace treaties and as a result Secretary of State Byrnes has proposed that the drafting of these pacts be shifted to a 21-nation conference in Paris. The division of opinion has been between Russia and the Anglo-American pair, with France frequently trying to hold the balance between them. There has been a similar clash of viewpoints in the security council of U. N.

Well, what's the answer to all this disagreement? I believe that most of the differences arise from two main sources: These are (1) ideology, and (2) the tremendous turnover in the European spheres of influence of the great powers.

In the matter of political ideologies it might seem that the big three could agree to disagree, but actually that's far easier said than done. The totalitarian rule of Communism is utterly opposed to the democracy of the western allies. Also, more than one of the latter believe that Moscow is engaged in a systematic crusade to spread Communism around the world. It's a fear which has dogged the countries of western Europe ever since Moscow proclaimed its ideal of world revolution a generation ago. And, of course, the Soviet is equally sure that the western allies are trying to hamstring legitimate Communist ambitions.

Dangers Emphasized Before

The dangers in the realignment of spheres of influence have been emphasized in this column before. A tremendous vacuum has been created in Europe by the disappearance of Germany and Italy as powers. That vacuum must be filled and Russia is surging into it. Britain finds her position both on the continent and in the Mediterranean heavily challenged. He would be a rash prophet who predicted that this battle of giants could be halted before the realignment of domination has run its full course. The best one can do is pray that the turnover can be effected without another war.

The great changes have been accompanied by vast secrecy. That naturally has created violent suspicions — and suspicions are the breeders of trouble. Report has it in Paris that the United States and Britain have been considering the idea of insisting that Russia lift the lid of secrecy from eastern Europe so that the rest of the world can get a look. One wonders just what good that would do, for we know we should find that Moscow has consolidated the whole of that vast area, and the Balkans clear down as far as Greece and Turkey, into the Red sphere of influence. That's a fait accompli.

So as previously remarked, it isn't easy to figure out ways of creating fellowship with Russia right now, and undoubtedly Moscow finds the problem equally difficult.

Explanation By Bankers of New Tax Laws

In view of the number of inquiries which have been received by the Missouri Bankers Association with reference to the bank deposits under the tax laws recently enacted by the General Assembly, the administrative committee of the Association has sent out the following information:

Demand Deposits

These and other deposits on which no interest is paid ARE NOT subject to the tax imposed by House Bill 868, which was approved by the Governor on April 19, 1946, for the reason that deposits of this class do not produce a yield. The bill herein referred to is the so-called intangible tax bill.

Deposits on Which Interest Is Paid

Deposits of this class ARE subject to the tax imposed by House Bill 868. The tax for 1946 is measured by the yield which the deposit produced in 1945. The rate of tax is 4 per cent. The assessment date for this year is July 1. Thus, a depositor who, on July 1, 1946, has a savings account on which he received interest in 1946 will be subject to a tax which will be of an amount equal to 4 per cent of the interest received. Should this savings account be the only intangible which the particular depositor owns which is subject to tax, no tax would be due and payable if the amount of the tax is $1.00 or less.

Comment

As demand bank deposits are not subject to tax, there will be no occasion for depositors to withdraw their funds over July 1 of this year, nor will there be any occasion to withdraw over June 1, for that date is no longer an assessment date. As above July 1 is the assessment date for this year under the intangible tax law and January 1 is the new assessment date for the taxation of both real and tangible personal property.

Pilots Union: It's God-Father is Old Timer

By JOHN SHEA
NEA Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO—(NEA)— Godfather and head man of labor's most exclusive union—the gold-plated Air Line Pilots Association—is a big fellow with a neat gray moustache, who in his 50's is a very lively relic of the days when aviators were more than men and never appeared in public without Jean Harlow on one arm and a quart under the other.

He is Dave Behncke, president since its founding 16 years ago of the association which is currently threatening a strike against TWA (Transcontinental and Western Trans-World Airlines). His Union proposes to stop traffic on the line's 28,000 route miles because Behncke and his boys believe said company is not doing right in the matter of pay for flying the giant new Constellations and Skymasters.

Because, they say, the big planes are harder on pilots and because more trips are necessary to accumulate flying hours—major factor of many in pilot pay—the pilots are asking these increases:

For pilots, from $13,200 annual maximum to $16,000.

For co-pilots, from $2760 annual minimum to half the scale for first pilots.

The union contends the maximum is rarely achieved because of the complex method of figuring a pilot's wage and that the everage pay for a first pilot today runs between $675 and $1000 monthly.

Dave Behncke is on old time movie-style aviator who accidentally grew to be a high-powered labor leader. No dealer of economic theory, he says he is interested in two things: more pay and shorter hours for his boys.

Farm Boy To Flier

A Wisconsin farm boy he wanted to fly, figured the army was the best way to his goal and enlisted in 1915 at 18. He served with the border patrol chasing Pancho Villa and wound up as a second lieutenant-pilot in 1918 with orders to combat in Europe on November 11.

By the following summer, like most ex-pilots, he was broke and out of a job. In partnership with a clothing merchant he started what he calls the "first air express." Behncke, flying a "jenny," delivered men's suits to merchants in towns neighboring on Chicago. He was quite a hero in the outlying precincts until the advertising novelty of the stunt began to wear off and the job ended. He won an air derby in Chicago in 1921 and then took over the Checkerboard Airfield here, from which he operated flying circuses for six years.

He was the first pilot hired by Northwest Airlines. This was in 1928 and he flew for Northwest and United Airlines until 1935, meeting nothing more eventful than the usual risks of his trade, with the following exception.

In 1930 Behncke and a half dozen more veteran pilots had gotten together in Chicago. They were unhappy with their wages and hours and they decided to organize. Early developments of the Air Lines Pilots Association, with Behncke the driving force as president, was slightly sub rosa and slow. "We were flying high when we got a couple hundred members," Behncke said today. But in 1931 the ALPA affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and by 1932 it was in the middle of the first and only pilots' strike in American aviation's history, against Century Airlines. The strike-bound company sold out.

In the dark year 1933 the nation's air transport came close to a shutdown. The National Labor Relations Board, at Behncke's behest, accepted jurisdiction of a dispute between pilots and airlines over a proposed wage cut a few minutes before the pilots were to leave their jobs. Behncke then told his boys to keep the planes flying.

Behncke returned to Chicago from Washington to find himself in a one-man labor dispute with United Airlines officials who said he had overstayed his leave of absence granted to represent the pilots' association. He was fired but ordered reinstated by the NLRB.

The threatened strike against TWA is the first since the early days of ALPA. Behncke's union has now grown to a husky 6000 membership with a very high percentage of eligible pilots. To become eligible, pilots must complete one year's service with an airline, during which time they are also on probation with the carrier company, and they must be passed on by a local pilots' council. These bodies are particularly concerned with the personal qualities of the new pilots, as are, of course, the airlines. Behncke doesn't want a man in his outfit who won't be able to fly a plane any time he is called on. Apprentice members may be accepted when they take a job, and pay no dues.

Behncke says his is not an exceptionally rich union, but that it doesn't have to worry about money for strike. Initiation fees cost a pilot $100, a co-pilot $25; annual dues for pilots are $100, for co-pilots $28, according to the union statement.

No Closed Shop

The ALPA has employment agreements—but no closed shops—with 19 leading U. S. airlines. Its members are subject to the Railway Labor Act. The strike would affect only TWA.

Dave Behncke in his 1925 flying-circus days

Behncke and his union contend that the big four-engined planes now in use across the continent and almost around the world require a much higher degree of skill and greater responsibility on the part of the pilot. Their great speed increases the number of trips necessary to build up flying time, which is now set at a maximum of 75 hours a month by the government. Behncke contends this maximum should be reduced to about 75 because of the greater strain placed on pilots by the new planes.

"We figure" he says, "that for every hour a pilot spends in the air he spends 52 minutes on the ground at work. But he gets paid only for time in the air. The new planes make the Chicago-New York run in about half the time of the old twin-engined workhorse, the DC-3. Whede does that leave the pilot on flying hours? It leaves him with twice as many trips to gain the number of flying hours."

Behncke himself is passing 50 fairly quietly, except for a well-kept moustache and the sporty checks and plaids he favors. He is a big fellow with a slight limp going back to 1934 when he landed a plane in a snowstorm near Chicago, slipped off an icy wing and broke a leg. He is easy going, until he starts talking about people he thinks may be doing wrong by his boys.

Increases In Ceiling Prices For Grains

Advance Of 25 Cents A Bushel On Corn May 13

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Government announced Tuesday increases of 25 cents a bushel in the ceiling price of corn, 15 cents for wheat, 5 cents for oats, 9 cents for barley, 10 cents for rye, and 18 cents per hundred pounds for grain sorghums.

The increases become effective at 12:01 a. m., May 13 and will apply to grain now in the hands of producers and grain to be harvested this year.

The increases were announced in a joint statement by the Office of Economic Stabilization, the Agriculture Department and the Office of Price Administration.

The purposes of the price hikes were listed as:

1. Removal of uncertainty concerning grain price ceilings between now and June 30, 1947.

2. To encourage movement of grain for shipment abroad, for human consumption in this country and for esesntial livestock feeding purposes in deficit grain producing areas.

3. To bring about "the proper balance" between the number of livestock and grain supplies available for feed.

The government also announced the following price increases in other types of livestock feed:

Fishmeal $10 per ton; fish scrap $7.50 per ton; tankage $7.50 per ton; meat scrap $10 per ton; corn germ meal $14 per ton; Gluten feed and gluten meal $14 per ton; hominy feed, brewers' died grains, beet pulp and mill feeds $10 per ton; soybean meal, cottonseed meal, peanut meal and linseed meal $14 per ton, and minor meals $10 per ton.

The 30 cent bonus now being offered to get corn for famine needs abroad will be terminated at the close of business Saturday, May 11.

A 30 cent bonus on wheat for export will be continued until May 25.

Robert Wild Will Preside

As Master of Ceremonies at Jubilee Dinner

Robert Wild, 319 West Tenth street, a member of the faculty at Broadway school, will act as master of ceremonies at the victory home-coming dinner to be held Saturday evening as one of the diamond jubilee events in celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of Central Missouri State Teachers college, at Warrensburg.

Wild, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wild, 1302 West Fifth street, was graduated from the college with the class of 1943 of which he was president. Among his other campus honors were the presidency of Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, and co-captaincy of the football team. Wild served in the armored forces of the army for two and a half years, six months of which were spent in the South Pacific.

Reservations for the home-coming dinner, which will be held in the College dining hall, have been made by 150 veterans, all alumni. There will be no speaker at the banquet, the emphasis being on renewing friendships .

Mr. Wild and Mrs. Wild, the former Elleta Wheeler, of Sedalia, who attended the state college two years, will spend Saturday in Warrensburg.

Mayor Kemp To Speak

Mayor W. E. Kemp of Kansas City will return to his alma mater to be one of four alumni to speak at the seventy-fifth anniversary convocation scheduled for Friday morning in Hendricks hall. Following the speeches of the alumni in which the history of the college will be recounted, President George W. Diemer will visualize and interpret the school's plans for the future.

The name of the school will be changed officially to Central Missouri State college this year. Although the training of teachers will remain a principal function, the change in name signifies that more emphasis will be placed on other departments.

The two-day diamond jubilee, Friday and Saturday, will include other reunions and dinners, a veterans' convocation following a two-mile long parade Saturday and a homecoming dance that night.

Coal ShutdownA Approaches Strike Against Government; Post Office Orders Embargo on the street and the housewife in her kitchen.

Urge Electricity Rationing

The Civilian Production Administration urged electric power utilities in coal burning areas east of the Mssissippi and in Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota to ration electrcity in progressive stages, starting with a brownout and thence to a blackout of all but essential services.

As a beginning, CPA suggested electric street advertisements and movie marquees be darkened just as they were in wartime.

On order readied by CPA for issuance probably today would authorize the rationing of manufactured gas—a possible blow to the householder who cooks with that fuel.

But more immediately, the government's ban on non-essential railroad freight shipments and the 25 percent slash in rail passenger service goes into effect at midnight tonight. to supplement this order, the Office of Defense Transportation urgently appealed to motor carriers to give priority to the movement of food, fuel and other essentials.

Communists Getting Supplies From Russia

HONOLULU, May 9—(AP)—To Maj. Claire L. Chennault "it is evident" that Communists in China are getting supplies from Russia and would like to take over the Chinese government.

The former commander of the Flying Tigers is en route from China to Washington after a secret mission to the Orient.

"There have been a good many artillery duels between Chinese Communist and Nationalist (government) forces," Chennault said in an interview here. "Chinese Reds are not getting their stuff from heaven. It is evident it is coming from Russia."

High Producing Herd of Cattle

McPHERSON, Kas., May 9—(AP)—A six-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by Dale Kudib, McPherson, has completed a year of production testing with an average butterfat production per cow 2½ times that of the national average for dairy cows, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced.

Average of 487 pounds of butterfat and 13,397 pounds of milk was officially recorded during the year for the herd.

The highest producer was Circle K Korndyke Harmony Dean, a four-year-old which produced 631 pounds of butterfat and 16,485 pounds of milk. The testing was supervised by Kansas State College.

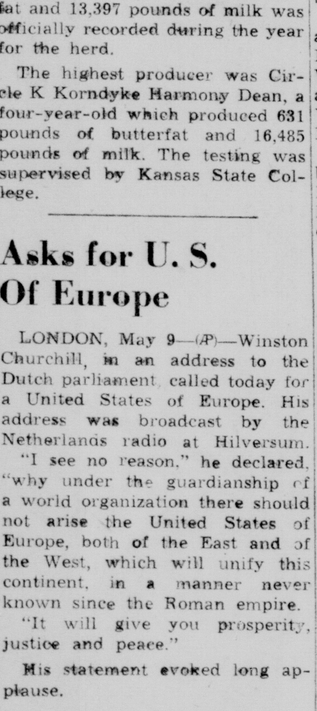

Asks for U. S. Of Europe

LONDON, May 9—(AP)—Winston Churchill, in an address to the Dutch parliament called today for a United States of Europe. His address was broadcast by the Netherlands radio at Hilversum.

"I see no reason," he declared, "why under the guardianship of a world organization there should not arise the United States of Europe, both of the East and of the West, which will unify this continent, in a manner never known since the Roman empire.

"It will give you prosperity, justice and peace."

His statement evoked long applause.

A recent survey by Denver University's National Opinion Research Center, plus results of its two wartime polls, indicates a strong sentiment for compulsory peacetime military training. Surveys were made by personal interviews with people in almost every walk of life, of widely varying educational and economic backgrounds. Newschart above shows how votes were divided.

Bully Time Is Had by All

Cops played toreador in Milwaukee, Wis., recently when a rambunctious steer, being unloaded at a packinghouse, broke loose and went on a rampage. In photo above, the animal has a worker "treed" on a coal pile, while Patrolman George Harmeyer, pistol in hand, warily prepares to dodge another rush. Animal was shot.

Gas Well Flows Uncontrolled

TONTITOWN, Ark., May 9—(AP)—A flaming natural gas well flowed uncontrolled today through an eight-inch hole that was drilled in the quest for water on the farm of E M. Marsini near Tontitown.

The well "blew in" with a strong flow of gas last night and ignited spontaneously as E. D. Still, Springdale water well drilling contractor, tapped a gas pocket at only 312 feet.

The flame soared above the well's mouth at a constant height of approximately eight feet.

No equipment to cap the well was available here and oil field "wild well" experts were summoned from Tulsa, Okla., to extinguish the flame and halt the flow. They were expected tomorrow.

Waterways Too Expensive

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—Additional railroad lines or highways to carry to freight could be built at a fraction of the $200,000,000 or more the army engineers propose to spend for development of navigation on the Arkansas river, the railroads contended before the house rivers and harbors committee today.

Speaking for the Association of American Railroads, R. P. Hart, of St. Louis, told the committee that the plan proposed by the army engineers would amount to subsidizing barge lines. He suggested the barge lines should be charged tolls to amortize the cost.

No Appointment Yet

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—An appointment to fill a vacancy on the supreme court apparently is no nearer than it was a week ago.

President Truman had nothing to say about it at a news conference today except that the situation remains the same. Last week he talked of the difficulty of getting capable men for government service.

Sold Pictures Of His Family

TOLEDO, O., May 9.—(AP)—Walter W. Ellis, 44, former minister, arrested in Findlay, O., pleaded guilty today before Judge Frank L. Kloeb in U. S. District court to three charges of interstate transportation of obscene photographs. Sentence was deferred to permit the judge to study details of the case.

Ellis is accused of nation-wide distribution of nude photographs of his wife, himself and a 16-year-old daughter.

"I've seen a lot of pin-ups and I figured my wife and daughter are more beautiful than most girls in the pictures," Ellis said. "I started taking pictures just in the family, wth no intention of selling them.

"I look upon the nude form as a part of nature, just as you would a sunset or a rose. I feel God made the body as a matter of beauty."

Ellis told the court he sent a collection of his pictures to a man in answer to an advertisement in a photo mgazine offering an exchange of photographs. The recipient answered that he had no pictures to trade, but offered to pay $1 a dozen for the nude photographs. Ellis said he continued to send additional pictures to the same address, using the money for the education of his family.

"They weren't all nudes," Ellis said, explaining that he took photographs of his wife and daughter wearing hula skirts, bathing suits and sarongs.

Search Spreads For Slayer

TEXARKANA, Texas, May 9.—(AP)—Intensified search spread over east and central Texas today for the man who told a negro at Lufkin, "I've killed five people around Texarkana and I'll have to make it six if you don't get me where I want to go."

The Negro, Herbert Thomas, of Kilgore, was forced to drive the man from Kilgore to Lufkin Tuesday night. Yesterday state police said they were checking a report from Mexia City police that a man answering the description given by Thomas had been picked up by a motorist near there and taken to Oakwood, near by.

The Negro described the man as red-headed, hatless and khaki clad and about 26 years old.

Report of his being in Lufkin had the city upset, the Lufkin News said.

But there were no reassuring reports that the "phantom killer" who police believe responsible for five deaths in and near Texarkana was being hemmed in.

Find Money in An Old Barn

MARYVILLE, Mo, May 9.—(AP)—Two 13-year-old boys exploring an old barn last week set off an investigation which led to the arrest of J. W. Linneman, mail messenger, on charges of stealing an insured mail pouch containing $600.

The youths, Roger Willis and Richard Fisher, crawled into an old barn and found quarters, dimes and nickels in an old steamer trunk. They filled their pockets with dimes, secreted them in a garage at Willis' home. But the secret was too good to keep.

The result was an investigation and the arrest of Linneman, 54, the father of five sons and a daughter.

M. W. Stauffer, postmaster, said the pouch disappeared last Thursday night while being transferred between the Wabash and Burlington stations. The money was being consigned from the First National bank at St. Joseph to a Pattonsburg bank.

Stauffer said $160 of the money was found in an air vent in the basement of the postoffice.

Eisenhower in Nanking, China

NANKING, May 9—(AP)—General Eisenhower arrived today, lunched with Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, and met General Marshall and other ranking American army officers.

Addressing American soldiers assigned to this Chinese capital, he said:

"We in the United States do not believe the world can long exist in an atmosphere of suspicion, mutual recrimination and of arming ourselves indefinitely.

Fire Destroys Building And Quantity of Grain

EAST ST LOUIS, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—A five-story brick warehouse containing a large quantity of scarce grain was destroyed by a spectacular fire last night.

The warehouse, located in the 1900 block on Baugh avenue, belonged to the National Oats company. It took firemen more than four hours to bring the flames under control. All fire equipment in the city was brought into use. Fire Chief Russell Wright estimated the damage at $500,000.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

(Note — Drew Pearson today continues his series exposing the lobbies which have been operating behind the scenes on Capitol Hill.)

WASHINGTON, May 9 — Today a vote by the house of representatives will determine whether the so-called nylon lobby has been able to do its job. This is the lobby of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas utility bigwigs who have been trying to block distribution of government power in competition with private power from the Norfolk and Denison dams on the Texas-Oklahoma border and in Arkansas.

The name "nylon lobby" comes from the fact that Ham Moses, president of Arkansas Power and Light, arrived in Washington with a promise of nylons for the wives of Arkansas senators and congressmen. However, a lot of other interesting "public relations" expenses by this lobby have since been uncovered, including the fact that the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company paid club dues and entertainment bills for its executives at various Oklahoma golf clubs — all at the expense of the consumer.

However, the most effective lobbying done in congress for many years is by those two spokesmen of the so-called cotton bloc, Senators John Bankhead of Alabama and Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, who, while vigorously opposing curbs on cotton, have been trading, either personally or through their families, on the cotton market.

Father Coughlin's Friend

Senator Thomas' cotton trading has been through Robert Harriss of Harris and Vose, 60 Beaver street, New York, with the account carried in the name of the senator's wife, Edith. Bob Harriss is an old and intimate friend of the senator and of other senators in the cotton bloc. At one time, Harriss handled the cotton trading of Senator Bankhead of Alabama, and was also extremely close to the late Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina.

Harriss first became prominent on the Washington scene when he was purchasing agent for Father Coughlin's silver speculations. After becoming friendly with Harriss, the radio priest started a vigorous campaign for the remonetization of silver, and later it was disclosed that Coughlin's secretary, Amelia Collis, had purchased 500,0000 ounces of silver and was the biggest holder of silver in the country.

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma also was a great silver-inflation enthusiast and did his best to tack a silver amendment on the work-relief bill in 1935. This was at about the same time Father Coughlin was speculating in silver and when Bob Harriss was close to both men. Senator Thomas also seems to have a bent for other kinds of speculation and during the early days of the war proposed that the war's cost be paid by a national lottery.

Thomas Pleads for Cotton

His recent cotton speculations, however, are especially interesting and appear to be closely related to his speeches on the senate floor.

Mr. Harris, who handles the Thomas family's cotton-trading account, is in and out of the senator's office every week or so. They are very warm friends. The Thomas purchases never go more than 5,000 bales, which is the legal limit for cotton, and usually the Thomas trading is through pools which generally run up to 20,000 bales.

Investigation shows that the Harriss and Vose firm was trading in cotton — and very heavily — between the dates of March 4 and 7, between March 29 and April 4 and between April 8 and 12. Harriss and Vose trading at this time was largely for its customers and the firm was careful to break no market regulations.

If you compare the dates of the Harriss and Vose cotton-trading and the dates of speeches made by Senator Thomas, Senator Bankhead plus other members of the cotton bloc in Washington, the similarity is significant.

For instance on March 4, cotton futures were selling as follows: March 27.29 cents, July 27.29 cents, October 27.16 cents. March 4 is the date when the Harriss and Vose trading became active.

Then on March 6, two days later, Senator Bankhead made a public statement charging Chester Bowles was trying to put a price ceiling on cotton and planning a 60 per cent margin on futures. Prices immediately dropped $3.25 a bale and recovered to a close of about 25 points. On March 7, prices snapped back sharply by $1.10 a bale.

The next heavy operations by Harriss and Vose were between March 29 and April 4. On March 28, cotton futures were selling for about 27.40 cents, at which time, according to the Wall Street Journal, "Cotton futures rose $1.35 to $1.85 a bale on a late rush of buying orders stimulated by the possibility that the Pace bill would be adopted by the senate. The rally was touched off by the plea of Senator Thomas (D-Okla) for higher farm prices in supporting tacking on of the Pace measure to the minimum wage bill. All futures made 22-year highs."

On March 29, the cotton market rose again $2.45 a bale as a result of senate statements by the members of the cotton bloc. Again the Wall Street Journal commented: "Predictions by senate sponsors of the Pace parity bill that the senate would approve it as an amendment to the minimum wage measure developed broad buying in cotton futures."

Again on April 1, cotton soared again, as a result of the cotton spokesmen's operations in Washington. "New maneuvers by the cotton congressmen," remarked the Wall Street Journal, "to assure passage of the Pace parity-raising measure. . . . Provided the structure for a sharp rally in the cotton futures market."

On April 3, cotton was still soaring; but on April 4, the Harriss and Vose operation got out of the market. Simultaneously the price of cotton dropped.

The next Harris and Vose operation was between April 8 and 12. The date April 8 is significant, because, next day, Congressman Stephen Pace pressed for early action on his bill in the house of representatives. The cotton market soared. Then on April 12, Congressman Pace announced that he would not attach his amendment to other legislation but that it must stand on its own merit. This meant, of course, that it would not pass; so the cotton market dropped. Simultaneously the Harriss and Vose operators got out of the market.

While it is not illegal for a senator or his family to speculate on the cotton market or for him to give tips to his friends, it seems only fair that the public should have the right to know about his operations and be able to form its own judgment as to what may influence his speeches and his votes for or against price control or on any other subject. That is why Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is being urged to investigate the cotton futures market.

'Moby Dick' Is a Whale of a Motor

In its new "Moby Dick," the U. S. has the most powerful rocket motor in the world. Shown in inset, above, "Moby Dick" is 110 inches long, 20 inches in diameter and weighs 1500 pounds. A third more powerful than the German V-2, it develops a forward thrust of over 30 tons, but operates for only two seconds. Large photo shows smoke exhaust from the motor blanketing the area at the government testing grounds.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

L. P. Fairfax, John Bente and D. C. Homan, all of Otterville, went to Flat Creek south of that place last afternoon, spent the night fishing and returned home with 25 pounds of fish. John Bente had a cat that weighed 7 pounds, Del Homan had one that weighed 5 pounds and Fairfax one that weighed 4½ pounds. These and the other fish were caught on bank hooks.

The pupils of Prospect school made up their annual contributions today to the Sedalia city hospital. The donations, consisting of provisions, canned goods of many descriptions, jellies, bed clothing and other useful articles, made nearly a wagon load. The donation was turned over to the matron of the hospital.

At a special meeting of the city council, which was called last night by Mayor Collins to further consider the ordinance determining the kind of rails to be used by the electric railway company on the paved streets of the city, the proposition to compel the company to lay the flat rail, instead of the "T" rail, was agreed upon.

James Renfro, who has a fine patch of strawberries at Nineteenth and Summit streets, says that he will not have to exceed one-fourth of an average crop, the recent frosts having killed the remaining three-fourths. Mr. Renfro's experience is the experience of many others.

Contractor Lee Carpenter has put a force of men and teams at work, excavating for the new Bondi building on Ohio street. About 900 cubic yards of dirt are to be taken out and as soon as this work is finished, the construction of the building will be commenced.

The Doctor Says

Proper Relaxation Promotes Efficiency

BY WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Society provides many places for people to exercise, but practically none for them to sit down and relax for a few minutes. The high tension under which we live makes most people ashamed to take a few minutes for relaxation, but those who live longest and contribute most are those who have learned the importance of working when they work and resting when they rest.

Dr. O'Brien

In industry efficiency declines toward the latter part of the morning, improves after lunch, and declines more rapidly in the afternoon. Accidents are more common in these fatigue periods, and many could be avoided by a 15-minute rest period, morning and afternoon.

Rest After Eating

We would not feel sleepy after eating if there were not some physiological reason for it.* Busy people may not feel the need for a nap after lunch, but when we grow older the need cannot be denied.

It is important to your efficiency to cultivate the ability to relax. At first it may be difficult, but it will become progressively easier. A few minutes of complete relaxation can be lengthened to 10 to 15 minutes with great profit to your health.

The warm spring sun encourages many to relax. We may camouflage our rest period as a sunbath, but the rest is fully as important as is the sun.

Many people boast of how little rest they obtain, feeling, apparently, that it is desirable to be busy all the time. A prominent man whose daily schedule would be a killer for most people recently confessed that he spends one hour each day in complete relaxation.

Less Work, More Play

The day may come when we will be proud of our ability to sit down for a friendly visit with a friend or acquaintance. A shorter working day may be the answer, but not if the individual employs his extra time for excessive activity.

From birth until death the body is never completely at rest. Energy expenditure goes on at all times. Everyone needs rest to enable the body to recharge its stores.

Even though you may not be able to sleep soundly throughout the night, remain in bed and try to relax. Not everything can be done in a day, and most jobs will be done better if we are not working under too much tension.

Drugs which depress sensation, and those which stimulate the brain and nerves should not be used for fatigue which can be relieved by rest and relaxation.

Spring Flight

THE STORY: Ken Newkirk, the agent who sold Ellie insurance, drives out to see him. Debby is impressed by his good looks but, believing he cheated Ellie, acts unfriendly. Bast and Joel discover Ellie has been making a new kind of decoy that will revolutionize duck-hunting.

* * *

XV

AGNES was talking to Mr. Newkirk in the dining room, and Debby knew as soon as she stepped inside the kitchen door that she was excited about something. She couldn't hear what she was saying, but her voice was gay and alive and full of zest.

Debby walked across the kitchen and stood in the doorway with her hands in her pockets. Mr. Newkirk was sitting at the head of the table, and Agnes was over beside the sideboard, rubbing its top with the palm of one hand and holding the mail-order catalog against her bosom with the other.

The door into Ellie's room was open. Mr. Newkirk's overcoat was unbuttoned, and there was a pencil and notebook on the table in front of him.

He stood up, and Agnes turned and saw her standing there. "Oh," she said, "did you two meet? This is my sister, Miss Weeks, Mr. Newkirk."

He said, "How do you do?"

Debby inclined her head slightly and said nothing.

"Mr. Newkirk is a friend of Ellie's," Agnes explained.

Debby nodded.

"He's an antique dealer," Agnes went on.

"I thought he was an insurance man," Debby said gruffly.

He was smiling right at her, almost as though he was laughing at her. "I'm both," he said.

"And he's got some good news for us."

"Maybe," said Mr. Newkirk.

"Yes, maybe," Agnes corrected herself. "He thinks maybe this old dining room furniture is worth something as antiques. Maybe as much as three or four hundred dollars."

"That's just a rough guess," Mr. Newkirk hurried to say. "I want to bring a friend who knows more about antiques than I do around to see it before I make you a real offer. But it looks good to me."

"And look, Debby," Agnes said, holding out the mail-order catalog, "look at this complete dining room set, seven pieces for forty-eight-fifty. Better looking than that stuff, I think. And it leaves us with $350. What do you think of this for a lucky break?"

"Might be all right," Debby said cautiously. She paused. "Only if there's that much money in it, it might be better to deal with somebody we know we can trust."

* * *

"DEBBY!" Agnes said sharply. A loud thump came from the bedroom. Debby glanced at Mr. Newkirk, and he was looking straight into her face, soberly.

She heard a noise at the bedroom door, and there was Ellie in his nightgown, bare-footed, leaning forward over his right arm which was still in its sling.

"Ellie," Agnes shouted, "you get back into bed."

Ellie was glaring at Debby. "Listen, you little squirt," he said huskily, "I ain't going to have you bein' rude to my guests in my own house."

Mr. Newkirk jumped up and took Ellie's other arm. "Listen, Ellie, you've got to get back in bed. Don't worry about that business." He motioned with his head toward Debby. "Your sister-in-law doesn't like me, but that doesn't hurt me any. She thinks I cheated you on the insurance I sold you. I didn't, but it's her privilege to think so if she wants to."

Ellie shook him away.

"What she thinks," Ellie said, "she can learn to keep to herself. I won't have her bein' rude to my friends."

Debby's voice was low and trembly. "P'raps I'll stop bein' rude to your friends when you stop bein' rude to mine."

Ellie's breathing was so loud you could have heard it out on the porch. "What do you mean, your friends?"

"Any friend of the Wymans is a friend of mine," she said, her voice still lower.

He caught his breath sharply. And he stood still, glowering at her. "So you're sweet on that pain in the neck, are you?"

* * *

DEBBY'S hands were clenched inside her pockets. "What you got against him?" she asked.

Ellie just stood still, looking at her with his mouth open, panting.

"Ellie," said Agnes, "you get back to bed."

He didn't move, and his eyes, still fixed on Debby's face, grew wider and duller.

"If you don't die tonight," Agnes said, "it won't be your fault."

"I wish you'd go back to bed, Ellie," Mr. Newkirk said desperately.

"I'll go back to bed"—he stopped for breath—"when Debby—tells you she's sorry."

Debby felt a kind of a shiver in her spine. It was getting hard for her to breathe now too, and all she could see was Ellie's eyes. They weren't mad any more—just stupid and holding on. She had a feeling he was just barely holding on, and it made her feel trembly, like when something was dying. And then suddenly it felt as though everything was draining out of her, like when you open your fingers and let the air out of a toy balloon. "I'm sorry," she whispered.

She was saying it to Ellie and not to the insurance man there, but it gave Ellie a chance to stop holding on, and that was all she wanted.

She saw Agnes and the man taking him back through the door, and she got to the stairs and up them and on to her bed. But when she got there she didn't cry. She just lay there feeling weak and trembling.

Withdrawal From Egypt Plan Not New

Under Consideration For Quarter Century Or Probably Longer

By DeWitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyist

Britian's proposal to withdraw her military establishment from Egypt, after occupying that vitally strategic base on the imperial lifeline since 1882, is sensational and daring, but we shouldn't make the mistake of assuming that it's a harum-scarum scheme which has been cooked up over-night by the new Socialist government, since it most certainly has been under consideration in one form or another for the past quarter century, and probably longer.

Former Prime Minister Churchill in a heated attack in commons on the project characterized it as one of the most momentous he had heard in the house. He added ominously that "after sixty years of diplomacy and administration, things built up with great labor are cast away with great shame and folly."

Socialist Prime Minister Attlee's reply to his Conservative opponent was that the plan was the best method "to calm rising Egyptian nationalism." Attlee said the decision was agreed to by the chiefs of staff and dominion prime ministers. From Cairo we learn that the British offer is contingent on revision of the present Anglo-Egyptian Alliance so that the defense of the Suez Canal would be entrusted to Egypt.

Bred Anti-British Feeling

Well, new, just what is behind this empire-rocking proposal? The British military occupation of Egypt began 64 years ago, but we needn't go back further than the beginning of the first World War when Egypt in theory was still a province of Turkey. As soon as the Turks entered the war on the German side, England deposed the Egyptian Khedive and established a protectorate under Sultan Hussein Kamil.

That protectorate lasted until 1922 and it not only bred strong anti-British feeling but stimulated nationalism. I was in Egypt in 1916 and had a long audience with Hussein Kamil who made quite clear the terrible bitterness which had grown up in his country against England. It was during this period that the British government canvassed the position to see what solution might be possible for a permanent settlement of a dangerous situation.

Three-Way Problem

The conclusion was that the problem would have to be handed in one of three ways. First, the protectorate might be carried on without bringing Egypt into the empire. Second, Egypt might be incorporated in the empire and accorded some self-government. Third, Egypt might be accorded independence with the requirement that she make an alliance with Britain which would meet the latter's requirements for imperial security.

The third alternative was adopted in general form in 1922. The protectorate was abolished but Britain reserved certain important privileges among which was the maintenance of armed forces in Egypt. There was a revision of this treaty in 1936, but still giving Britain the right to continue military occupation. And now the British government proposes a new alliance which would place the responsibility for defense of England's interests on Egyptian arms. It is important to note that experts say it will take five years for the British to implement such an alliance, and that gives lee-way to see how the thing works.

Conservatives Accuse Socialists

The Conservatives, headed by Churchill, charge the Socialists in about so many words with destroying the empire. Herbert Morrison, Socialist floor leader in commons, replies that the alternative to British withdrawal from Egypt is "almost certain disturbance, riot and possibly even revolution." That is a true bill, and he might have added that the neighboring fiery Arabian states are showing signs of making Egypt's troubles their own.

JOKER: it cannot be mass-produced at low cost, therefore public won't be able to buy the Stout Forty-Six for a long, long time.

Bolivar Statue For Bolivar

Rep. Bennett Says Plans Approved For Its Erection

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Representative Bennett (R-Mo) said Wednesday the government of Venezuela had approved plans for erection of a statue of General Simon Bolivar, that country's liberator, in Bolivar, Mo.

Bennett has been conferring several weeks with Ambassador A. Machado Hernandez on a proposal that Venezuela place Bolivar's statute in the Missouri city if this country, in turn, would erect a statue of one of its foremost citizens in Venezuela.

The state department, however, did not desire to provide a statue for the South American country at this time because of the expense, but suggested instead that money be sent to Venezuela to transport students to the United States to atend schools here.

Today Ambassador Hernandez notified Bennett that his government had cabled him that plans to proceed with the erection of the staute in Bolivar, Mo. had been approved.

Will Have Ceremonies

BOLIVAR, Mo., May 9—(AP)—"That's very fine!" exclaimed Mayor Doyle McGraw Wednesday when informed that the Venezuelan government would present a statue of general Simon Bolivar to the Missouri city bearing his name.

"We are very glad to hear that," Mayor McGraw added, saying "we will do our best to have appropriate ceremonies for the presentation."

Bolivar, with a population of nearly 3,000, is the largest of eight towns in the United States with the name of Venezuelan patriot and soldier.

This is not the first time the South American country has recognized the Missouri Bolivar. In 1918 the government commissioned one of its most prominent artists to paint a large oil portarait of General Bolivar. It was presented to the city and now hangs in the city library. At the top of the frame on a silver plate, in Spanish, is the inscription: "Venezuela to the city of Bolivar."

In 1941 the Venezuelan government made plans to present the city with an equestrian staue of Bolivar, but World War II interfered.

Johnny Pesky Stands Out as Finest of all Shortstops in Boston's Upward Surge

By Joe Reichler
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

In a year when the major leagues boast the greatest array of shortstops in the history of baseball, the Boston Red Sox' Johnny Pesky stands out today as probably the finest of them all.

Boosters of other crack shortstops might put up a strong argument for their favorites, but the figures prove Pesky stands all alone at the top of this brilliant cast.

The five-foot-nine-inch lad who only a few years ago was a club house boy out in his native Portland, Ore., and who only last Monday was stopped one hit short of tying the major league record of 12 consecutive hits, tied another standard yesterday when he tallied six times in a 14-10 slugfest, won by Boston over Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox.

Pesky erased the former American league high mark of five held by Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx among others and joined Mel Ott of the New York Giants as the only modern to accomplish this feat. Guy Hecker holds the all-time high of seven made in 1886 with Louisville of the American Association.

Including the four hits in yesterday's game, Pesky has garnered 39 in 91 times at bat for a .429 average to lead both leagues in batting. He also scored the most runs—30. In his first year in the big leagues—1942—before he joined the navy for a three-year hitch, the 26-year-old shortfielder led the circuit in hits on a .331 batting mark.

With Ted Williams, Rudy York and Bobby Doerr joining Pesky in the Boston hit parade, the American league leaders slammed four Chicago pitchers for 17 safeties to set a new club record of 13 consecutive victories, topping their 1939 skein by one.

Southpaw Mickey Harris was hit hard, but had his fifth straight victory saved for him by Dave (Boo) Ferriss, who came to his assistance in the ninth inning.

The New York Yankees remained three and a half lengths behind the Red Sox when they triumphed over the St. Louis Browns 5-1. Spud Chandler joined Harris as the majors' only five game winners by holding the Sewellmen to three hits, two of which came in the ninth when the Browns scored their one run. A three-run homer by Rizzuto was the big blow off Lefthander Sam Zoldak.

Detroit's Hal Newhouser and Cleveland's Bobby Feller, who with Chandler and Boston's Tex Hughson, are expected to fight it out for the league's pitching leadership, each hurled a masterful game with Newhouser blanking the Washington Senators, 1-0 and Feller whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2.

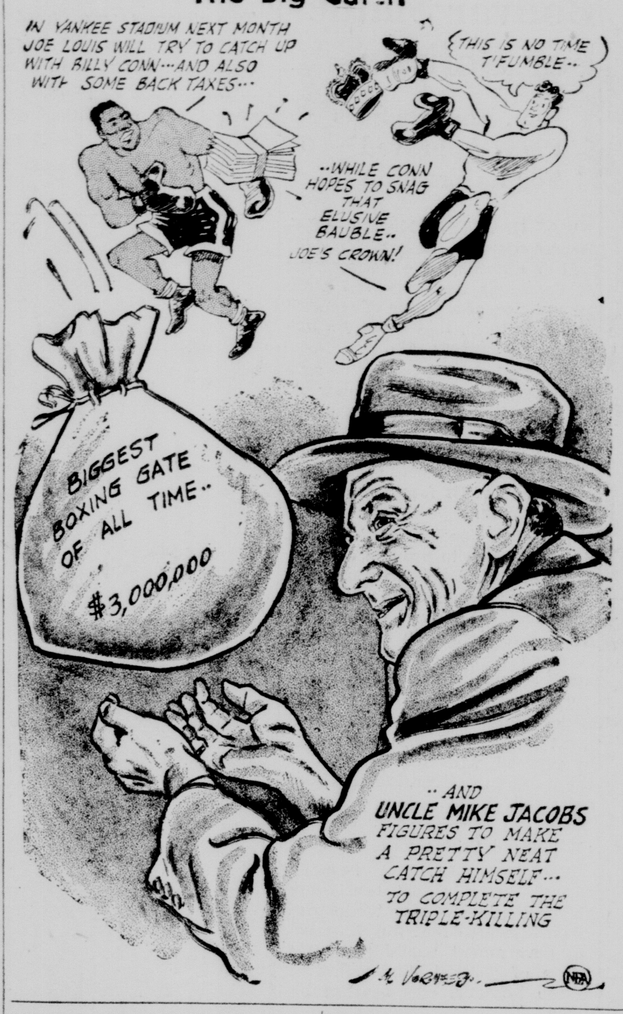

Don Padgett's pinch-hit homer in the tenth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an 8-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and kept the Brooks a half game behind the National league leading St. Louis Cardinals.

With Dave Koslo besting Pittsburgh's Fritz Ostermueller in an all-lefty pitching duel, the New York Giants advanced into a fifth place tie with the Pirates by shading the Bucs, 1-0.

Phil Cavarretta, Lou Stringer and Ed Waitkus led a 14-hit attack with three hits apiece as the Chicago Cubs trampled the Boston Braves, 10-5, to move into third place in the National league.

The St. Louis Cardinals protected their first place lead with a 5-3 triumph over Philadelphia's Phils in a night contest. A four-run fifth inning on three hits and a pair of Philly miscues enabled Johnny Beazley to gain his second triumph of the season.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 9—(AP)—What you hear around the meeting of the American College Public Relations Association . . . First a rumor that Skippy Minis is leaving the Naval Academy and that Bob Fenimore, the Oklahoma Aggies' All American, will be at West Point next fall . . . No one can explain how a guy who was classified 4-F as long as Bob can pass the rigid physical exams for the army officers . . . Amos Alonzo Stagg, who last played the University of Kentucky Wildcats in 1926 when he was Chicago coach, is coming back next October 26 with his College of Pacific team. It was arranged at the coaches meeting in St. Louis last winter as Stagg's "Swan Song" . . . "Happy's Pappy," Joseph Chandler, father of the baseball commissioner, is forming an independent ball club here, known as the "Chandler All-Stars" . . . "The team will give any ball club a run for its money," Pappy says—including Mexicans?

A Horse On Us

Lexington is the center of Kentucky's horse country, but it wasn't until this spring that a riding stable was established in the city. . . . Folks hereabouts ride in automobiles and bet on horses . . . Nevertheless, visiting the horse farms is a sight that shouldn't be missed. The scenery is beautiful, and there's an added thrill when you drop in at Calumet and see Whirlaway—still Mr. Long-tail—or see old Man O' War at Faraway Farm or drive into Walnut Hall (bigger than you can imagine) to see the grave of Peter Volo and at the same time watch some of his newborn descendants kicking up their heels in the green pastures. . . . Then there's the Keeneland track—just over the fence from where Lord Boswell was foaled. . . . It looks more like a racetrack should than any place we know except maybe the historic track at Goshen . . . And for the benefit of the college publications, they served a burgoo there yesterday. Tastes like chili without the beans.

Inside Dope

Did you know there is no such place as Maine Chance Farm? . . . When Mrs. Elizabeth Graham formed her racing stable, she owned a farm in Maine and decided she was taking a big chance, so she picked the name out of her mind. . . . The horses mostly are quartered at Leslie Combs' Spent-Thrift Farm here . . . And that isn't badly named, either, when you think of what the cosmetic queen spent in the sales paddock.

Hobby and Antique Show

Mrs. T. H. Yount, chairman of the Hobby and Antique show, which will be held in connection with the Flower Show on Friday, May 17, by the Sedalia Garden club, asks the cooperation of Sedalians and Pettis countians in making this an outstanding show.

Mrs. Yount believes that many people have unusual and beautiful things about their homes, many with historical value that would be of interest to those visiting the show and would add to the exhibit. The display will be in charge of some of the garden club members throughout the day and the exhibits will be taken care of.

Anyone having something to exhibit is asked to call Mrs. Yount, or any of the following members of her committee: Mrs. H. A. Hite, Green Ridge; Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, telephone number 2321; Mrs. J. W. Two Business Places Found Unlocked

Two local business places were found unlocked by the police Wednesday evening. Both were locked up by the officers, after conducting an investigation to ascertain if robbery had been committed.

One was at 608 South Ohio avenue, where the door was left unlocked. It was locked and the key taken to police headquarters. The other was a filling station at Broadway and Emmett.

Fast

A shell acquires a speed four times as many neck vertebrae as equal to that of a locomotive traveling 30 miles an hour in traveling the 25 feet from breech to muzzle of a six-inch naval gun.

Vertebrae Vary

Swans have more than three times as many neck vertebhae as giraffes. Almost all animals have seven neck vertebrae, but there seems to be no standard among birds. Swans have 25, geese 19, ducks about 16, and even the tiny humming bird has 14.

"Goat" Taxicabs

Taxicabs were named after a goat. Cab is an abbreviation for cabriolet, the diminutive of the French cabriole, meaning "a leap." Cabriole came from the Italian capriola, meaning "a somersault," from Latin caper, "a he-goat."

'Fair Exchange' for Woman he Loved

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 9—(AP)—James M. Sexton, 72-year-old retired minister, who sacrificed his beard for the woman he loved, married her yesterday.

His bride, Mrs. Jennie V. Clayton, 63, had objected to the 10-inch beard, saying she never had kissed a man with one and didn't intend to begin now.

Sexton termed it a "fair exchange" and the couple was married by H. D. Pickel, associate county judge.

Women's Guild Has Meeting in California, Mo.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel Of Sedalia is Elected President

The annual spring conference of the Central Missouri Regional Women's Guild of the Evangelical and Reformed churches was held at California, Mo., on Tuesday, May 7, with fifteen churches represented.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel, of Sedalia, president, presided, and Mrs. Roy Corman, president of the National Women's Guild, of Pittsburgh, Pa., gave the principal address.

The theme of the meeting was "The World Is My Neighbor."

Devotional was in charge of Mrs. William C. Bessmer, of Sedalia.

A welcome was given by Mrs. Hobart Dahler, president of the California guild.

A contributed luncheon was served at the noon hour with members of the California guild as hostesses.

Reports Given

Prayer was given by Mrs. Laura Stammerjohn, of Boonville, after which reports of the various chairmen were made. Mrs. W. G. Borne, of Sedalia, of the membership committee, reported 702 members in this region. Mrs. Bessmer, spiritual life committee, also made a report.

Rev. Fred Stoerker, pastor of the Student chapel at Columbia, which serves students at the University of Missouri, Christian and Stephens colleges, spoke briefly on the growing needs of serving the students of these schools and made a plea for larger facilities to take care of the increasing number of students. The student chapel is sponsored by the Evangelical and Reformed church and the Congregational Christian church.

Officers Installed

Officers for the term of two years were installed by Rev. William C. Bessmer, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church in Sedalia. The new officers are Mrs. Ernest Liebel, Sedalia, president; Mrs. Hy Damm, Jefferson City, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Neubauer, Boonville, secretary, and Mrs. Alvin Rohrbach, California, treasurer.

Miss Mary Hausam, Sedalia, is chairman of the recommendation and resolution committee, and Mrs. Leonard Williams, Sedalia, of the revision committee.

Afternoon Session

Mrs. Corman, the principal speaker of the afternoon, gave a talk of unusual inspirational value on the theme of the meeting, "The World Is My Neighbor." Mrs. Corman said, "Our part as women in the progress of the church is to unite all women in Christian fellowship. Each should believe in their fellow person. Each one is a different person and personality and God has given each something to share with others. Each one is needed for Christian fellowship. By having Christian fellowship women help to face tragedy, to overcome fear, and to value each individual for his own sake and through this they acquire Christian insight and knowledge. Every woman should want to serve the church to the fullest of her capacity. She should serve God through her family, her church life, through her community and through her community will give to the war torn countries."

Benediction was by Rev. Paul Schoppe, of California.

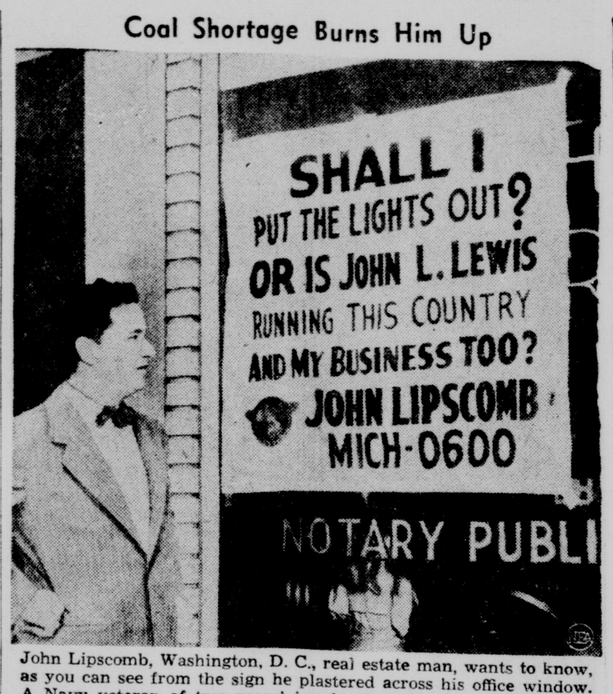

Those attending the conference from Sedalia were Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Bessmer, Mrs. Ernest Liebel, Mrs. R. J. Hausam, Mrs. Leonard Williams, Mrs. Roy Lierman, Mrs. Harley Vaughan, Mrs. W. G. Borne, Mrs. Frank Royce, Mrs. Clemens Fischer, Mrs. Fred Kueck, Mrs. Otto Thomas and Miss Mary Hausam.

Professor of Medicine at Stanford Is a Professor of Murder, Too

By AL OSTROW
NEA Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA)—Dr. Joseph Catton, clinical professor of medicine at Stanford University, has a unique and profitable avocation—murder.

The suave, distinguished looking college professor doesn't go around killing people himself, but he specializes in study of quirks in the human mind which produce mayhem, and frequently takes time out from his task of instructing medical students on mental diseases to appear as a professional witness in murder trials.

A stern realist, Dr. Catton generally insists on cash in advance—and about as much as the traffic will bear—before entering a case. He may be retained by either the prosecution of the defense, but he invariably goes to work with an open mind, refusing to commit himself in advance to belief in either the defendant's legal guilt or legal innocence.

His method is to make a complete investigation of the past and present of the person accused of murder, and of the crime they are charged with committing. Through conversations with the accused, their relatives and friends, and scores of people who have had contacts with them, Dr Catton develops a voluminous "case history."

Pulls No Punches

Then, sitting alone in the privacy of his book-lined study, he sifts the evidence and with the keen intellect of a skilled psychiatrist, formulates his answer to the crucial question:

Was the defendant legally insane at the moment of murder, and, therefore, legally innocent of the slaying?

Most states recognize insanity as a mitigating defense against a murder charge, and both the prosecutor and the defense attorney are anxious to either beat down or build up the argument.

Having framed an opinion, Dr. Catton presents it to the side which retained him. He says he pulls no punches and does not permit consideration of where his fee comes from to influence his judgment, since his professional reputation is worth more than any single case.

If his finding is contrary to the theory the attorney who retained him is trying to establish, that sometimes ends his association with the case—although in at least one instance he was summoned as a trial witness by the other side.

Taking the witness stand is no trial for Dr. Catton. Smoothly and glibly, using simple charts and tables for clarification, he conducts the jurors on a guided tour of the labyrinthine intricacies of the human mind and the causative factors of crime.

Cross-examining attorneys always try to trip him up by quoting a reference he once made to his appearance as a prosecution witness in the famous Massie case in Honolulu, when he engaged in a verbal duel with Clarence Darrow, the defense counsel.

Dr. Joseph Catton: For a study of mayhem, cash in advance.

Dr. Catton said he had lost a point to Darrow, but had smiled so convincingly at the jurors that they thought he had won.

The professor's customary response to the reference is another pleasant smile to the jury and a candid admission that "it was rather foolish to set down something which at a later trial would take up so much time.

Knows Law, Too

Dr. Catton is a stern foe of the "moment of mania" theory—"the insanity which appears suddenly, remains for a period of time sufficient for the commission of a murder and then disappears as promptly as it came."

However, being well versed in jurisprudence as well as psychiatry and medicine, he is quick to detect legal quirks which may benefit an accused, and frequently becomes the chief strategist of a defense battery.

Himself a noted alienist, Dr. Catton does not believe the final determination of a murder defendant's sanity or insanity should be taken from a jury and handed to a board of psychiatrists, although he does think the talesmen should carefully weigh expert testimony. "There is too much uncertainty in this field for anyone but a jury to reach a final verdict," he says.

Among the famous cases in which Dr. Catton appeared as a professional witness were the trials of Winnie Ruth Judd, William Hickman and Annie Irene Mansfeldt. His testimony appears in about 50 other trial records.

OLYMPIA, WASH., May 9—(AP)—A Chicago hotel owner, distressed over his city's brownout, jokingly asked Governor Mon C. Wallgren if he could "borrow" Grand Coulee dam temporarily.

The governor, in turning him down, had this advice for his friend:

"Why don't you Chicagoans move into the country where you can benefit from modern conveniences, such as electric lights?"

Questions and Answers on Coal Strike

President Has no Power to Compel Men to go to Work

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Here are answers to questions—which may have puzzled you—about the critical coal strike.

Can the government seize the coal mines? If so, why doesn't it?

The president, under his wartime powers which he still has, can seize the mines. The government several times seized the struck mines during the war.

But the president has no power to compel the miners to return to work. If he seized the mines but the miners stayed away, he'd have a red face and no coal.

On occasion miners stayed away in wartime when the government took over struck mines.

Union leaders argue that their men are not striking, that they're staying away from the mines because their contract has expired and they can't work without one.

Can't the government jail miners who refuse to work when the government seizes the mines?

Don't Have to Work

No. There's no law compelling a man to work. But the government could jail anyone who urges the miners not to work or threatens them if they do.

The charge would be conspiracy to interfere with the government's operations of the mines. This is always hard to prove.

If the government seized the mines and the union leaders just sat back, keeping mum, they couldn't be accused of telling the men not to work. Yet, without orders from the union, the men very probably would stay away.

Weren't a number of miners arrested in wartime on conspiracy charges? Yes. The department of justice charged 162. Of that number 143 were convicted. But of the 143, only one got a jail sentence, a one-year term. The others were given fines of less than $100 each.

The government said these men were trying to keep the miners from work by pleas or threats. The arrests didn't scare miners into going to work.

Method of Seizure

How does the government seize a mine?

Since this is how it worked in wartime, the president probably would do it this way again.

He'd tell the interior department's solid fuels administration—which is the government branch dealing with coal mines — to take over. No troops would be used.

The SFA simply would tell the mine owners the government was seizing the property and ask the owners to run their own mines for the government.

The owners would keep separate books while the government was in charge.

If the miners and owners finally agree to a pay raise for the workers, will that mean an increase in coal prices?

Almost certainly.

Government Must Approve

Can the owners just grant a pay raise and then raise their prices?

No. If the pay raise is going to mean a price raise, the government must approve both to keep both from going too high. That's the government policy on all pay raises that mean price raises.

Can the government tell the owners how much of a pay raise to give?

Only to this extent: The government can't tell the owners how small a raise to give. Indirectly—the government can put a limit on the amount of raise to be given.

That's because the higher the pay raise, the larger the price increase owners will want for their coal.

Since the government is trying to keep prices down, it can tell the owners:

"If you give the miners a raise up to such and such a figure, we'll let you raise the prices so much. But if you give a bigger raise, then you can't get a price increase to make up for that."

Salvation Army General

LONDON, May 9—(AP)—Albert William Thomas Orsborn, 59, of London, was elected general of the Salvation Army today. A veteran of 41 years with the organization, he succeeded George L. Carpenter, who retired at the age of 73.

Orsborn is known as the Salvation Army's finest poet and is the author of 250 hymns and songs. Both his parents were Salvation Army officers.

He said he would emphasize Evangelism during his tenure and would "put the Army on wheels and, if necessary, on wings."

Empty Coal Cars Tell the Story

Coal cars sit empty and idle in the Superior, Wis., railroad yards as coal strike negotiations continue in Washington. When the strike is settled and the cars start moving to paralyzed industry, they will cause a major rail tie-up, transportation experts predict.

Fried or stewed chicken goes far when it is cooked, diced and mixed with sauce or gravy to have on top of biscuits, noodles or toast.

Braised veal steaks are a good idea if you pound into them a mixture of a teaspoon of ginger, dry mustard and salt mixed with two tablespoons of flour.

Use a teaspoonful of tea for each cup of boiling water to get a good strength.

Ever have onions with herbs? Peel a pound of the smallest white onions. Steam in a small amount of water to which has been added thyme, whole clove, bay leaf, nutmeg, salt and pepper and a small clove of garlic. Add a little butter or margarine and flavor with white wine.

Plain vegetable or fruit salad for 4 becomes generous servings for 7 or 8 when added to a package of gelatin dissolved in 2 cups of boiling water.

Rinse the tea pot with boiling water before starting a new pot of tea.

Dreamy negligee ensembles for the June brides play up rear-view interest. Left, an open back and ruffles which sweep from a deep yoke in front to the hemline in back highlight this sunset-colored sheer negligee worn over a matching gown. Center, bridal white sheer embroidered in gold dots has rhumba-dancer ruffles around the square decolletage, the sleeves and the hem. A white satin gown completes the ensemble. Right, a detachable flounced apron ties bustle fashion at the back of this white sheer negligee which has white eyelet organdy ruffles around deep armholes. The matching square-necked gown is white satin.

In Georgia, sweet potato pie and brunswick stew are now being frozen.

Rotate the usage of your sterling silver so as to bring all the pieces into use during the week.

Never leave salad dressing on silver forks as discoloration may set in.

Sewing machines should be oiled every 5 or 6 hours of use.

Never put tea into water, pour the boiling water over the tea.

A dessert you can't afford to miss is fresh pear pie, warm and spicy, served with nippy American cheese. It's a partnership that's epicurean. You make pear pie just as you do apple pie except you can use less sugar because pears are rich in levulose, a sugar that tastes extra sweet.

Floral Accents for Mother's Day

Unique ideas in floral arrangements are herewith presented by stylist Alyn Wayne of Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, for Mother's Day gift flowers. Above left, the five lovely, pink camellias form a corsage which, if desired, can be removed for wear, still leaving a well-balanced arrangement of pink snapdragon spikes and blue iris. Above right, to match a woman's personality, Mr. Wayne created this attractive Mother's Day design for the very modern mother—contrasting an elegant spray of orchids with violets and carnations. Left, using a large crystal ball, violets and pink carnations are clustered on the inside at the base of several stately calla lilies, which are graduated in height outside the bowl. Practical note is that placing flowers inside the bowl prolongs their keeping quality, possibly one to two hundred percent.

Remember when making any pear salad, that fresh peeled pears, like apples and bananas, need a sprinkling of lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Grapejuice or orange juice will work equally well if you're short on lemons.

A family favorite: Ripe pears and creamy cottage-cheese. There's a simple salad combination with myraid possibilities for variations. Use your own imagination.

Cheese is a grand accompaniment for baked pears. Bake pears in a syrup of half honey and save your precious sugar. They'll have a lovely glaze.

One pleasing way to welcome the newness of spring is to introduce colorful spring salads at luncheon or dinner time. And most tempting is the salad made with tender curls of elbow macaroni or long strands of golden spaghetti.

Macaroni products, always thrifty stretchers of the more costly foods, are in for their share of goodness in salad-makings. These good macaroni foods go well in favorite sea food combinatins, vegetable salads, fruit salads, or spicy meat salads. Not only do they capture the many exciting flavors of the other foods, but they thriftily extend these foods in a most tasty way.

Here are three delightful spring salads dressed in bright spring costumes. So colorful and tasty are they that make make an excellent welcome mat for Spring.

Salmon Toss-Up

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
6 ounces elbow macaroni
½ cup salad dressing
¼ cup French dressing
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked peas
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup diced green pepper
¾ cup flaked salmon

Add 1 tablespoon salt to actively boiling water. Gradually add macaroni and continue boiling until macaroni is tender (about 10 minutes). Drain and rinse macaroni in cold water. While macaroni is cooking, mix salad dressing, French dressing, and 1 teaspoon salt. Fold in peas, celery, green pepper, salmon and macaroni. Chill well. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Yield: 4 servings.

Julienne Luncheon Salad Bowl

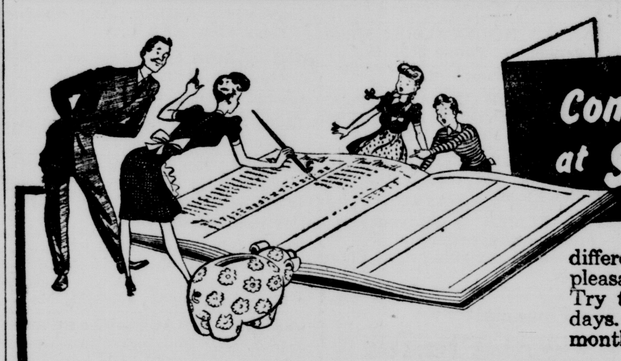

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
6 ounces long spaghetti
1 bunch watercress, washed
½ cup chopped celery
1 tomato, cut in wedges
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
6 radishes, sliced thin
¼ cup coarsely chopped cucumber
1 12-oz. can table-ready meat, cut in thin strips
¾ cup French dressing
1½ teaspoons salt

Add 1 tablespoon salt to actively boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti and continue boiling until spaghetti is tender (about 15 minutes). Drain and rinse spaghetti in cold water. While spaghetti is cooking, toss together watercress, celery, tomato, onion, green pepper, radishes, cucumber, and meat. Mix salad dressing and 1½ teaspoons saft. Add to tossed vegetable-meat mixture. Add spaghetti, mixing lightly. Chill well. Serve on lettuce leaves or beds of watercress.

Yield: 4 servings.

How to conserve bread

The Famine Emergency Committee has asked Americans to cooperate during the present food emergency to conserve bread so that starving people in other lands may be fed. We offer in the following suggestions ways to save precious bread.

WHEN YOU BUY BREAD—Buy the size loaf that fits your family . . . small loaves for small families, large loaves for large families. Plan to have no bread left over from one shopping trip to the next. If you must buy bread for several days' use, get two small loaves rather than one large loaf.

TO KEEP YOUR BREAD FRESH—Open the wrapper at one end of the loaf only. Remove the heel, take out only the slices needed, replace the heel, and fold over waxed paper.

TO FRESHEN DRY BREAD—If your bread becomes slightly dry, sprinkle the wrapper around the bread with water or put the bread in a paper sack and sprinkle. Place in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 10 minutes or until bread is heated through. Serve immediately for a homemade-bread flavor.

MELBA TOAST—Use leftover sliced bread. Place on a baking sheet in a single layer and dry out in slow oven (250° F.) about 1½ hours or until a tempting tawny brown. Store in an airtight container and use as needed. Use in place of bread for breakfast, lunch, dinner or as a snack.

Goering Took Millions in Graft, Now Can't Buy a Cigar

By Daniel De Luce
(For Hal Boyle)

BERLIN, May 9—(AP)—Hermann Goering took over one million dollars a year in graft from German business to satisfy his champagne and caviar tastes in the era of Nazi power.

His record of golden loot was jotted down in ten-cent notebooks with black paper covers.

Of those victimized by the Reichmarshal, not all paid unwillingly. A cigarette manufacturer in Hamburg got double value for his bribe. Goering collected nearly six million marks from him during six years, but quashed a tax collection suit for 12 million marks—$4,800,000.

Since the former No. 2 Nazi has been on trial as a war criminal in Nuernburg, American treasury department officials have intensified their search for Goering's hidden funds abroad.

Economic Boss

Last year one of the highest ranking officers in the German Army told American interrogators that Goering once extracted 14,000,000 Dutch guilders in virtual blackmail from the Netherlands, gave the Nazi military commander there a million guilders and sent the rest to a trusted emissary in Switzerland.

Germany's aircraft and steel industries were tapped regularly for "transfers" by the heir-apparent to Hitler. Goering, as plenipotentiary for the four-year plan, was economic boss of the nation. Among those shaken down for regular mysterious deposits to his bank account were Junkers, the Hermann Goering - Works, and Borsig-Rheinmetall.

Aviation and steel magnates in the lush years from the conquest of Poland to the invasion of the Soviet Union gave Goering sums totalling $740,000 annually.

Had Valuable Rings

"Ach! naturally all these plants transferred some funds occasionally to my personal account," Goering explained to inquisitive American officials. "Because under the party regulations, it was not allowed for party members in public office to accept remuneration for services on the boards of directors of these companies."

When Goering was transferred from "Ashcan," the original collection camp for Nazi big shots in Luxembourg, to Bavaria to stand trial, three rings worth $100,000 each and a gold cigar case were sent along in his requested personal effects.

At various times, Goering grandly promised one of the rings to an American prison official, knowing well that all existing regulations bar acceptance. His jewelry is expected some day to contribute a substantial slice to German reparations.

Goering today can't buy a five-cent cigar.

In 1792 men wore ties that went twice around the neck and then tied in a bow behind.

Dipper Deviations

In Europe, the seven stars of the Big Dipper are known as the Plow, or Charles' Wain. The Romans believed them to be draft-oxen, while the Arabs saw the stars as three sisters, mourning their dead brother, lying in a sarcophagus.

Famine's Shadow Falls on China

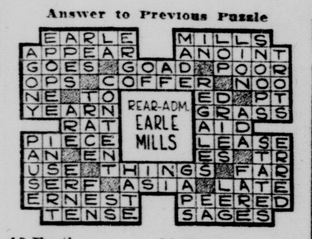

All of China's numerous economic headaches—including violent monetary inflation—are overshadowed by the constantly increasing food scarcity, with famine a real threat in large areas. Map above shows provinces hardest hit by food shortages, according to the Office of International Trade, Dept. of Commerce. Difficulty of transporting foodstuffs from areas of plenty to famine-threatened ones and an epidemic of cholera and bubonic plague in southeast China further darken the picture.

Reds Break up Rich 'Junkers' Estates

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

SCHWERRIN, Russian Zone, Germany,— (NEA) —The great estates of the "Junkers" caste are being parcelled out to the peasants in this rich agrarian district of Germany.

Already, Soviet occupation authorities have broken up 2,250 big farms totaling some 2,000,000 acres that were the source of wealth for aristocratic land-owners, and have turned them over to the little people.

This Russian-sponsored project is both political and economical: besides eliminating the power of the "Junkers," it is bringing the people back to the land in this province of Mecklenberg where, before the dark days of the Wehrmacht, half of the 1,400,000 population lived on farms and 60 per cent of the people had a green finger in agriculture.

It is this project, the Land Reform Act promulgated last September, which the Soviets say is the reason Germans in their zone of occupation are getting a higher daily calorie ration than in other Allied zones.

The Russians put this wheat and potato producing land back to work for themselves as well as for the Germans. Out of the last potato harvest which totalled 913,000 tons, they took 610,000 tons. And there are twice as many people to feed now, since the influx of refugees from the east has almost doubled the population.

The once-wealthy land-owners whose estates made up 68 per cent of Mecklenberg's five million acres of farm land, are not entirely out in the cold under the Russian reform. Any of these "Junkers" who can prove they were anti-Nazi can get a 10-acre tract, but they will be no better off than any other farmers in the province.

As yet, though, the people of this province are not suffering from a deluge of milk and honey.

The final months of battle stripped the eastern part of most of its men and livestock. A lot more livestock disappeared with the Polish slave laborers when they began their migration back to Poland. In all, more than 75,000 head of livestock, including horses, are missing today. The Russians have thus far returned 6,000 horses and are redistributing cattle to the "new peasants."

There is a great labor shortage, too, as everywhere else in the Soviet zone. Today, women working on the land outnumber the men 15 to one. The Russians have given their occupation forces orders to help bring in the spring crops.

In a land that's on thin rations, this farmer's wife seems to be doing all right for her larder as she hangs up wursts and sausages in storeroom of her farm in Thuringia province. German farmers here told Emil Reynolds that Russians let them keep enough for their own needs out of what their farms produced.

Lack of housing and facilities for building them have retarded the parcelling of estates, and cut-up farms are being taken care of on a collective basis. There is a great deal of over-crowding. On an 800-acre estate I visited just a few miles outside of Schwerrin, 24 settlers plus 15 "hand workers"—locksmiths, carpenters and masons—and 23 children were living together in what had been the house of a wealthy land-owner. The living room was a community recreation room, with benches and trestle tables. The bedrooms housed a family apiece—with a cookstove thrown in. Even the loft was marked off with pieces of sacking strung over ropes, and stoves were dispersed all over the floor.

Despite these poor living conditions, the women and children looked reasonably clean and well-fed, although most of the children were barefoot.

Fractures Wrist In A Fall

Mrs. A. A. Bertholf, 1314 East Eleventh street, fell while fishing with her husband near Sedalia late Wednesday afternoon and fractured her left wrist The break was set at the Bothwell hospital by Dr. John B. Carlisle and Mrs. Bertholf was dismissed to return to her home.

In England, for many years after the Magna Charta, a woman could not legally accuse a man of murder.

Exclusive NEA Photos By EMIL REYNOLDS NEA-Acme Staff Correspondent

Barnyard scene in Russian-occupied Thuringia province of Germany includes a Soviet officer, just like the factory scene at left. Big farms like this one, which was the hub of a rich land-owner's estate, have been broken up and parcelled out to the "new peasants" of Germany.

They Help Bureau

About 5,000 voluntary observers throughout the United States are assisting the U. S. Weather Bureau in recording atmospheric conditions and compiling records. These records are sent to the central office at Washington, where they are carefully checked.

In ancient Egypt, a mixture of animal fat was considered a cure for baldness.

Ships Spread Colds

All inhabitants of the lonely island of Tristan da Cunha, in the South Atlantic, catch cold every time a ship docks there. The epidemic is produced by germs left by the ship's passengers and all 167 of the island's inhabitants are susceptible.

The daily weather map of the United States was first published by the government in 1871.

How to keep the girls down on the farm is a problem in Soviet zone's back to the land movement, which has labor shortage. Women farmers outnumber men 15 to one, but many more women have flocked to industrial jobs, like these shown punching a time clock in a Gera tevtile factory as Russian officer stands by.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Labor Bill Pressed To Fore

Legislation On Disputes Up To Calendar Top

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—A rebellious senate, angry and alarmed about the coal strike, forced labor disputes legislation to the top of its calendar today—ahead of the administration's legislative program.

Against the upsurge of sentiment to "do something about John L. Lewis" Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) was forced to agree to give labor bill right-of-way behind the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan.

He did so when it became apparent that otherwise the senate was in a mood to drop the loan and everything else in order to talk about the coal strike and what could be done to stop it.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the senate that he was glad it was going ahead with labor legislation, but that in his opinion the coal strike problem "is primarily up to the President."

"I object to the theory that congress is in any way delinquent in this strike," he said. "We could not pass a more extreme law than the Smith-Connally Act. The president has not chosen to act under the Smith-Connally act.

"Primarily, emergency action in any strike is up to the President. "Five hundred and thirty-one men (the members of congress) can't deal with John L. Lewis."

Take Up Control Act

The bill the senate has on its calendar and expects to take up tomorrow is its labor committee's rewritten version of the house-approved Case strike control act.

As it stands, it provides simply for a strengthened federal conciliation service and a ban on union interference with farmers delivering farm products to market.

Half a dozen senators, however, were framing amendments to deal with the present coal strike and to impose long-range restrictions on unions.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) prepared an amendment aimed directly at the coal strike. It would provide this machinery:

When the President found a work stoppage was impairing services essential to the public health, safety or security, he would so proclaim and request the parties to the dispute to resume work. If work was not resumed, the President would be authorized to seize the struck properties and operate them. It would become statutory duty of the affected labor organization to seek return of its members to their jobs. Those who did not go back to work would lose their clai mto the job. Persons who encouraged a continued work stoppage would be subject to a year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Preparing Site For Factory

Work has begun toward removing the old stove factory building, on the ground on North Park avenue, where the building to house the Home Building Corporation is to be constructed. The Menefee Construction company is on the job, draining an old pond, and the ground will be graded and put in shape. This is being done by the Missouri Pacific Railroad company which will then turn the site over to the Industrial Development disivion of the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the construction of the building.

The Home Building Corporation will build prefabricated houses.

When draining the pond workmen found large numbers of gold fish. John Lueck, fire chief, took some of them for the fire department aquarium.

Threat Of Frost For The Mid-West

CHICAGO, May 9—(AP)—Several midwestern states are threatened with killing frost and freezing temperatures over the week-end, the weather bureau reported tonight.

Forecaster H. L. Jacobson said a cold air mass from Canada threatened to bring frost to portions of Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan Friday night and Saturday and probably, by Saturday morning to some parts of Illinois and Indiana.

In northern Wisconsin the mercury was expected to drop to between 15 and 20 degress in the Cranberry Bog area around Wisconsin Rapids and Spooner. A low of 26 was predicted for Minnesota.

The cold front entered Minnesota, Nebraska and northwest Iowa tonight, accompanied by general showers and strong northerly winds. It was snowing in southern Montana and eastern Wyoming, Jacobson said.

Senator Opens His Campaign for Reelection Saturday

Senator Frank P. Briggs, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, left Washington, D. C. Thursday enroute to Sedalia according to information received here that afternoon. Senator Briggs will officially open his campaign at a rally to be held at the court house on Saturday night, in Sedalia.

The Senator is being accompanied to Sedalia by Mrs. Briggs, and they will be joined here by his daughter, Miss Dorothy Briggs, and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Sagaser of the Chronicle Herald of Macon, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Strong.

Senator Briggs and his party will be joined by a delegation of supporters from Macon, and others from over the entire state according to word received here.

Governor Coming

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, who appointed Senator Briggs to the Senate to fill the unexpired term of President Harry S. Truman, who had been elected to the vice-presidency, will arrive in Sedalia late Saturday evening. Governor Donnelly will probably be accompanied by Mrs. Donnelly and other state officials. That night he will introduce the senator.

Father A. J. Brunswick, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, will give the benediction.

Large Crowd Expected

Senator Briggs, who is the publisher of the Macon Chronicle Herald, stated he is seeking the nomination solely on his past record, not only as a U. S. Senator, but as a state senator for four terms, which office he held at the time of his appointment to the U. S. Senate.

Mayor Bagby said he has every indication the campaign opening will be one of the largest ever held in Sedalia, according to letters and calls received from Briggs supporters from over the state.

Mrs. G. B. Cook Dies After Autos Collide

Eight Others Are Injured A Mile West Of Dresden

Mrs. Bessie Irene Cook, wife of G. B. Cook, 1510 East Broadway, was fatally injured about 6 o'clock Thursday night when the car which Mr. Cook was driving, and a car driven by Charles Guier, Sweet Springs R. F. D. No. 2, collided about a mile west of Dresden on highway 50. Five other passengers in the Guier car, and Mrs. Margaret O'Bannon also in the Cook car were slightly injured.

Mrs. Cook died about 7 o'clock at the Bothwell hospital a few minutes after being taken there in the McLaughlin ambulance.

The Injured in the Cook Car:

Mr. Cook, sprained right ankle and left wrist, back sprain, and numerous bruises and contusions over the entire body.

Mrs. Margaret O'Bannon, 1320 South Ohio avenue, suffering from shock, and numerous body bruises.

Injured In the Guier Car:

Charles Guier, laceration on the forehead over the left eye, laceration on the right knee, bruises to both arms.

Edmund Guier, father of the driver and owner of the car, slight cut on the nose.

Mrs. Edmund Guier, mother, fracture of two ribs on the right side, possible fracture of a bone in the left hand, numerous body bruises.

Mrs. Ruby Guier, wife of Paul Guier, expectant mother, received cut on the chin, front teeth knocked loose, severe cut on the tongue, left knee bruises, and shock.

Paul Guier, husband slight bruise to the left knee.

Robert Eugene Guier, brother, slight bruise on the right leg.

Brought Here In Ambulances

In the McLaughlin ambulance which took Mrs. Cook to the hospital were Mr. Cook, and members of the Guier family. Other members of the Guier family were taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance.

Mrs. O'Bannon was taken to the hospital in an automobile driven by John Bucholtz, 665 East Fourteenth street, who was accompanied by John Gant, 1400 South Quincy avenue.

Blacktop Slippery

Mr. Cook stated he was driving his 1941 Hudson sedan west on highway 50 en route to Knob Noster. He said that he was going up the slight grade and on a curve on the blacktop pavement, when he came up behind a slow moving truck. Mr. Cook said he was not driving more than 45 miles per hour and that when he applied his brakes the car began skidding. "The blacktop highway was extremely slippery due to the rain which was falling," Mr. Cook said, "and I began to slow down because I saw the other car approaching from the west. The car got out of control because of the slippery highway and the accident was just unavoidable."

Guier, who was driving a 1939 Pontiac five-passenger coupe, said he didn't have an opportunity to stop his car to avoid the accident. He said the first he saw the car appeared out of control was when it skidded out from behind the truck which was just ahead of the Cook automobile. Guier was headed east toward Dresden when the accident occurred.

The left front part of the Pontiac crashed into the right front part of the Hudson, causing the Hudson to swerve and head back toward the east, while the coupe continued a few feet farther west and came to a stop on the edge of the pavement. Both automobiles were badly damaged. They were taken to Manley's garage at Dresden.

Mrs. Cook, who was riding in the front seat, was thrown out onto the blacktop pavement, along the southside of the highway.

The Cook's were enroute to the Knob Noster cemetery where they were going to inspect some grave markers for Mrs. O'Bannon.

State Trooper Sergeant Fred Rodecker and Troper Pete Stohr conducted an investigation of the accident.

Dr. Kenneth Holdren, coroner, viewed the body and after conducting an investigation said he did not believe an inquest was necessary as there was no criminal liability involved.

Born Near Longwood

Mrs. Cook was born twelve miles north of Sedalia near Longwood, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Murphy.

She was a member of the Epworth Methodist church, also a member of the Order of Eastern Star in Davenport, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married June 16, 1920.

Surviving besides her husband are the following brothers and sisters, John D. Cook, 1503 East Broadway, William Murphy, Kansas City, Mrs. Albert Sands of Wichita Falls, Texas, Mrs. K. C. Lee of Bakersfield, California, and Dr. F. O. Murphy, 1001 East Fourth

Governor Calls To Conserve Fuel

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9—(AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly urged all Missourians today to join in conservation of fuel and electric current to meet "the threat of an emergency caused by the coal strike."

The governor addressed his proclamation to "all businesses, industries, public utilities, whether privately owned or publicly owned and each and every citizen of this state."

He called on them to "cooperate in the conservation of fuel and electric current in order that life, public health, welfare and safety may be maintained until such time as the threatened emergency has passed."

The governor acted a few minutes after the public service commission had authorized privately operated utilities to curtail their services progressively "as soon as your fuel and chemical supply is reduced to a 30 day supply."

He told his news conference he would back up the proclamation by transmitting it separately to all state institutions. Some of them, including the big state penitentiary at Jefferson City, already have inaugerated programs to save electricity by shutting down non-essential activities.

Knocked From Pole By Shock

Arthur Wenig, Of Cole Camp, Is Critically Injured

Arthur Wenig, 55, of Cole Camp, lineman for the Missouri Public Service corporation, suffered critical injuries Thursday afternoon when he came in contact with a 4,000 volt line while working in Windsor and was knocked from a light pole, falling 25 feet to the ground.

He is a patient at the Bothwell hospital where x-rays revealed that he sustained a fracture of the pelvis on the left side, two fractured processes of the fifth vertebra and probably internal injuries. Wenig also suffered minor burns on his arms, bruises, and shock. He was treated at the hospital by Dr. J. E. Mitchell.

The mishap occurred about 3:30 o'clock while Wenig was working on a light pole near the shoe factory in Windsor.

Rushed To Hospital

Wenig, who is employed through the Cole Camp office, was working on the distribution system and somehow contacted the "hot" line, but apparently did not receive the full force of the electrical shock. A fellow employe witnessed his fall and Wenig was rushed in the Huston ambulance, of Windsor, to Sedalia.

L. H. Boeschen, manager of the Cole Camp office, when notified by F. S. Sappington, manager in Windsor, of the accident came to Sedalia to be with Wenig at the hospital.

Still Seeking Phantom Killer

TEXARKANA, Texas, May 9.—(AP)—Citizens of this bewildered, frightened city, scene of five murders in six weeks, slept easier last night as an augmented force of Texas peace officers patroled streets and highways, guarding against and seeking the phantom killer believed responsible for all of the slayings.

Ten new cars from the Texas department of public safety, plus a mobile three-way radio transmitter which keeps in contact with all patrol cars, arrived and immediately went into action.

Liquor dealers said in a joint statement they were immediately beginning a voluntary closing curfew at 9:30 p. m., because of the city's "state of mind."

"We do not wish to add further to the troubles of the police," the statement said.

Capt. M. T. Gonzaullas of the Texas Rangers said today he did not believe the man who boasted to a Lufkin negro that he was the killer, was the one sought here.

One-Sentence Bill to Set Official Time

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 9—(AP)—A one-sentence bill to require that central standard time be the official time for Missouri was introduced in the state senate today by Senator W. W. Sunderwirth (R) of El Dorado Springs.

"There's been too much tampering with the clock," Sunderwirth declared.

Jefferson City was on day light time for five days recently, but the experiment was abandoned when state agencies declined to switch from standard time. Several eastern Missouri cities, including St. Louis, are on daylight saving.

Senate for Draft Law Extension

Until July 1; Action On Thursday When British Loan Bill Was Laid Aside

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The Senate approved unanimously today an extension of Selective Service until July 1.

The action came on adoption of a joint resolution by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) after the Senate had temporarily laid aside the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

House leaders immediately made plans to pass it quickly in that chamber and speed it to the President for his signature. It would continue the draft, just as it is, until July 1 pending congressional action on a longer extension.

Paradoxically, the hurried action puts the armed services in better shape than they might have been if considered legislation were adopted, for draft boards now will continue their present induction practices until July 1 at least.

The house, in voting a nine-month extension, had ordered inductions suspended for a five-month "holiday" to give the recruiting program a trial. The senate military committee, proposing a full year's extension, recommended that inductions be restricted to numbers not supplied by volunteers.

If the measure later is approved by the house the draft act would be continued in its present form for a month and a half beyond its May 15th expiration date.

Democratic Leader Barkley noted that the extension also would keep alive until July 1 President Truman's authority, under the Smith-Connally amendment to the selective service act, to seize the struck coal mines.

Barkley earlier had told the senate this authority would expire May 15 unless the draft law is extended.

Barkley fought a move to sidetrack the $3,750,000,000 British loan in favor of labor control legislation. The administration wants to consider the draft law extension as soon as a final vote is taken on the loan bill.

In Opposition

Taking the floor in opposition to a move by Senators Eastland (D-Miss), Byrd (D-Va) and others, Barkley told his colleagues bluntly that he does not believe the senate now knows what kind of labor legislation it wants to pass.

He said that unless the selective service law is kept alive, the Smith-Connally act authority for the president to take over the struck mines will expire with it because that measure amended the draft law.

Mr. Truman told his news conference earlier in the day that he will cross the mine seizure bridge when he comes to it. Barkley's insistence on draft extension indicates consideration of such a move.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) said today he will offer legislation for 30-day draft law extension if the senate appears determined to take up labor control legislation immediately.

President Truman, at a news conference, said the draft law was in a bad situation. He said he urged its extension as long ago as September.

Democrati Leader Barkley (Ky) told reporters he will move, as soon as the senate completes action on the British loan bill, to take up a committee-approved measure which would extend selective service for a year but limit service of inductees to 18 months.

Barkley said he will press his motion against an expected attempt by a group led by Senator Eastland (D-Miss) to force before the senate a revised version of the house-approved Case strike control bill.

The draft law expires May 15.

Gurney said he and other supporters of a full year's extension of the draft would support Barkley's position. If the senate decides to act on labor legislation, he said he then will offer the 30-day extender to prevent a lapse in the functions of selective service.

Eisenhower in Nanking, China

NANKING, May 9—(AP)—General Eisenhower arrived today, lunched with Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, and met General Marshall and other ranking American army officers.

Vote Delayed on British Loan

Long Talk By Langer Slows Up Action

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The senate agreed tonight after a stormy debate to vote at 3 p. m. (EST) tomorrow on final passage of the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—A long talk by Senator Langer (R-ND) tonight delayed an administration effort to push the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill to senate passage.

With the senate bowling over amendments at a rapid pace, Langer took the floor at 6 p. m. (EST) and talked on into the evening with only a brief interruption while a quorum of the senate, which had drifted away rapidly after he arose, was reassembled.

Langer held out against pleas of both supporters and opponents of the bill to permit a vote. As a result, administration lieutenants were seeking an agreement for a final decision tomorrow afternoon.

Votes on several amendments still are pending, including a proposal by Langer to authorize government loans to war veterans without interest for the first five years and at 1.6 percent interest thereafter.

This approximates the terms of the British loan proposal, under which Britain would draw upon the $3,750,000,000 for five years and not pay any interest until 1951, when a 2 percent rate would go into effect.

Covers Many Subjects

Langer ranged far and wide in his speech, covering such varied subjects as foreign policy, surplus property disposal and the climate in California.

Of these, only California got a god word. He said the golden state beat most any place he ever saw except North Dakota and maybe Idaho.

When he got around to Texas, he asserted that natives of that state always claim everything is bigger and better in Texas than anywhere else.

He related that a Texan came to North Dakota and belittled everything he saw—by comparison with things in Texas. Finally, he said, a North Dakotan showed the Texan a toad and told him it was a bedbug.

"Hm'm," said the Texan, "must be a young one."

Langer gave up the floor temporarily while the senate voted down 50 to 16, a substitute proposed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

In place of the loan, Taft proposed to give Britain an "outright grant," as he termed it, of $1,250,000,000 to be spent for goods and services in the United States in 1946, '47 and '48.

Because Taft had an out of town engagement, Langer agreed to let the proposal come up with the understanding he had the floor again after the vote.

Order By CPA For Gas Ration

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—The Civilian Production Administration tonight ordered companies selling manufactured or mixed gas to begin rationing supplies to consumers when their coal stocks fall below a three-week supply.

CPA said its aim is to keep such essential services as cooking, refrigeration and hospitals going "as long as possible in the current national crisis caused by the coal strike."

The order requires utilities to curtain their sales in a series of steps, first cutting off supplies to factories and other industrial consumers whose contracts permit interruption in service.

Other steps to be taken are, in order:

1. Deliveries must be curtailed, proportionately so far as possible, to commercial and industrial users, except those providing certain "essential services" listed in the order—such as fire and police stations, hospitals, restaurants, bakeries, dairies and newspapers.

2. Deliveries of gas shall be curtailed even to the "essential" users.

3. After all other cuts have been accomplished, the gas company must reduce deliveries "to all remaining consumers to the extent and in the manner it deems necessary and practicable."

This could hit at home heating, cooking and refrigeration.

Small In Call For Seizure of The Coal Mines

Strike Near To The Status Of Being Against The U. S. Government

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP) — Civilian Production Chief John D. Small called tonight for government seizure of the coal mines, reporting that 1,000,000 persons have been thrown out of work and that the wheels of American industry will shortly "grind to a rude stop."

Simultaneously a far-reaching system of rationing manufactured gas was ordered by the Civilian Production Administration. It decreed that companies selling manufactured or mixed gas shall begin rationing supplies to consumers when their coal stocks fall below a three-week supply.

On capitol hill, an upsurge of senators demanding strike control legislation forced Senator Barkley (D-Ky) to agree to give the subject the right of way over everything but the British loan bill. Thus the chamber is expected to plunge tomorrow into the whole field of labor disputes and what to do about them.

"Militant" action by President Truman was reported in the offing if other means fail to bring quick peace. After a conference with the chief executive, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago said Mr. Truman is working on a program and if it does not bring a settlement he is "going to become militant."

Declining to give any details of the Truman plans, Kelly said:

"The President said he had a program he hoped would work out in a comparatively short time."

Consider Conference

Earlier in the day, Mr. Truman had suggested government seizure to Reconversion Director John W. Snyder last Saturday.

Asked whether it has been rejected, Small replied:

"It has not been accepted nor rejected."

When a reporter asked Small if he favored seizure, the CPA chief said Briskly:

"Yes. I have so recommended. We have reached a juncture where the mines should be seized. Then the government should appeal to miners to go back to work.

"It would be tragic if gas plants were forced to shut down."

A reporter asked Small what would happen if seizure fails and the miners refuse to return to their jobs.

"I can't conceive of people striking against the government," Small said.

"I think we would get enough miners back to work."

Pressed for his view of what would happen if they did not go back, Small stated:

"The country then would have to face the issue and congressional action would have to be taken."

In answer to a question Small said he did not care to make any recommendations on the kind of action congress might take.

Small said he believes every one will agree that maximum production is the only insurance against "skyrocketing prices and inflation."

Proposes "Breathing Spell"

He proposed a six or eight-month "breathing spell—a holiday" from strikes.

"I certainly hope and pray that labor will agree to such a holiday," Small said. "If labor does agree we won't need any legislation."

Mr. Truman told his news conference:

1. The strike is approaching the status of a strike against the government;

2. He is considering a number of possible courses of action, including a call to John L. Lewis and coal operators to come to the White House for a conference.

In addition he questioned the legality of Lewis' prime demand—a royalty on soft coal to finance a health and welfare fund for miners.

The report that more than 1,000,000 workers have been rendered idle by the 39-day strike was made by the Civilian Production Administration.

CPA Administrator John D. Small, in his second report on the impact of the stoppage, said that "this week we are losing about one third of our steel production."

Shutdowns To Mount

"From now on, the rate of shutdowns will mount rapidly," he continued. "Each succeeding week will mean a greater loss than the week before, with results that will be felt throughout our economy.

"The drastic freight embargo (effective at midnight tonight) will quickly force the wheels of

Woman Held In Slaying

Murray was shot and killed in his hotel room, March 12.

Sedalia is Not Hard Hit By Coal Strike

Electricity is Supplied Through River Dam Project

Sedalia will not be threatened with a shortage of electricity because of the coal strike, H. C. Feuers, Manager of the Missouri Public Service Corp., in Sedalia, said Thursday afternoon. Mr. Feuers said the only chance for such a curtailment would be a nation-wide "brownout," such as was imposed during the war.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9—(AP)—The Missouri Public Service Commission today authorized utilities in the state to "take necessary steps to bring about progressive curtailment of the electrical services as soon as your fuel and chemical supply in storage is reduced to a 30 day supply."

Commission Chairman Morris Orburn said the PSC had no authority to order reduction of coal consumption by railroads operating within the state of Missouri. He said that was up to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The "brown out" during the war was not necessary to have on fuel inasmuch as local electricity is supplied through the White River Dam project. In case of a let down through the supply from the White River Dam, the local power plant, which is used when heavy loads are necessary, is operated by natural gas and fuel oil.

"Coal has not been used at the local power plant for more than fifteen years", Mr. Feuers stated.

Laid In Coal

Sedalia water will not be affected by the coal strike at the present time I. H. Reed, manager of the Sedalia Water Co., announced.

Mr. Reed said that when the coal strike was threatening he anticipated a lengthy time of settlement and laid in a coal supply which will keep the pumps at the pumping station, south of Sedalia in operation until at least July 15.

Strike May Put 500,000 Idle

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, May 9—(AP)—The effects of the coal strike reached deeper into the nation's automobile industry today to halt more assembly lines indefinitely.

Indications tonight were that the giant industry, which for 10 months has sought vainly to return to normal output levels, might be prostrate by next week-end, idling up to 500,000 workers.

General Motors Corp. announced today it will start closing all its plants next Monday as a result of the freight embargo occasioned by the coal shortage; Chrysler Corp. posted notices that all passenger vehicle assemblies will be stopped on Monday; Briggs Manufacturing Co. indicated the Chrysler curtailment will halt a substantial part of its operations.

The GM and Chrysler action followed closely announcement by the Ford Motor Co. that it was starting to lay-off 110,000 workers because of the parts and materials shortages indicated by the freight embargo.

The GM shutdown means idleness for 215,000 workers, many of whom have been back at work less than six weeks following the prolonged CIO United Auto Workers strike. Closing of the Chrysler passenger car lines will send 10,000 more home, and about 5,000 Briggs workers will be idled as automobile bodies used by Chrysler divisions begin to back up. A Chrysler statement said truck production would be continued.

At the Packard Motor Car Co. plant operations have been curtailed an hour daily to conserve light and power.

Hughesville Club Talk On Sunshine Pals

The Hughesville Women's Extension club met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Thomason with Mrs. Lawson Smith and Mrs. Clarence Thomason as assistant hostesses. The president, Mrs. Raymond Najle, presided over the following program. Club collect read in unison by all while Mrs. Joe Williams played softly. Friendship pennies were collected. Mrs. Homer Cunningham led the devotional. An article on children was read by Mrs. Walter Smith, the child development leader. The group joined in singing the following songs: "Follow the Gleam," "The Lord is My Shepherd," and "There's Music in the Air."

Mrs. Najle gave a talk on "Sunshine Pals" which was followed by the roll call which was answered by "How to keep peace in the family."

Visitors were Mrs. Albert Runge, Mrs. Das McClure, Misses Alice Alexander, Elaine Lowrey, Barbara Sue Honslen, Margaret Jo Cranfill and Amanda Cranfill.

Major Leake is represented by William F. Brown and Fred F. Wesner. Major Leake is a patient at the U. S. Army Air Corps hospital at Scott Field, Ill. where he was taken shortly after he was treated at the Sedalia Army Air Field hospital .

Major Leake's home residence is Cairo, Ill. He was stationed at the S.A.A.F. when the mishap occurred and had been on duty at the local base for several months.

The accident occurred on highway 50 at Dresden when the automobile in which he was a passenger, and driven by Major Walter J. Warren, collided headon with the truck of the A. Reich and Sons, driven by Donald M. Clifford. Maj. Warren was enroute east toward Sedalia and the truck was being driven west on highway 50 and through a driving snow when the accident occurred.

Grow More To Provide Food

Next To Wheat Fats Are Vitally Needed For Aid

J. W. Burch, director of the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service in urging greater effort on the part of Missourians in the emergency food program to relieve famine conditions abroad states that the world food situation is worse than first thought and our voluntary food conservation program is falling short of commitments.

He points out that if we are to make more food available for shipment overseas we need to curtail feeding it to livestock and substitute other foods for a considerable amount of bread and wheat pastries. Potatoes supply food value similar to bread and the stocks of potatoes in this country from last year's crop are large. This year's intended acreage with average yield should provide a production of 45% above the average. Nutritionists point out that a small potato has about the same food value as a slice of bread.

There is no better way for us to save on other food products than to grow vegetables in our own gardens. Any one having the space available and who does not put out a garden this year certainly fails to do his share.

Saving of Fats

Next to wheat, fats probably are most needed in the famine stricken countries. No fat of any kind should be wasted. Nutritionists say that a saving in the supply can be made by home owners using more chicken fat, meat drippings, and cream for seasoning and making breads and dessert.

After they have done their share in saving wheat and fats, the real job for Missouri farmers is to turn out one of their greatest production feats with corn, wheat, oats, milk, pork, beef and other foods. Then, too, we should conserve on grain by making the greatest possible use of pastures.

Another help will be cutting hay at the proper stage of maturity, thereby increasing its feeding value and at the same time reducing the need for concentrates. Culling those boarder cows and hens will save your feed and at the same time bolster the meat supply.

This is the ideal year to start a balanced farming plan. Such a plan will give you the largest and most efficient production for which an individual farm is suited. It will give the highest net income consistent with a sound soil building program, not only this year but for the years ahead. County extension agents will work with the help those who want to start a balanced farm plan on their farms.

Demonstration Is Held In Pasture Fertilization

A pasture fertilizer demonstration is being conducted on the Wm. J. Lamm farm of Smithton to determine the value of various kinds of fertilizers on permanent pastures.

The demonstration which is being carried on at the Lamm farm consists of seven equal sized plots with four kinds of fertilizers and three check plots. Fertilizers which were applied included 4-12-8 at the rate of 666 pounds per acre, 0-45-0 applied at the rate of 178 pounds per acre, and 35-0-0 applied at the rate of 114 pounds per acre.

In setting up this demonstration the amount of phosphorus was held constant in all plots where phosphorus was applied. This is 178 pounds 0-45-0 gives the same application of phosphorus as 666 pounds of 4-12-8 or 0-12-12.

The chart below shows the plan of the demonstration plots.

The fertilizer was applied with a grain drill on April 3. In order to handle all plots in the same manner the empty grain drill was used on the check plots to cut the sod the same as occured on the plots where fertilizer was applied.

The permanent pasture being used in the demonstration consists of orchard grass, bluegrass, white clover, and some sweet clover. Previous soil treatment on the plot included an application of 175 pounds per acre of 0-20-0 in 1941 and an application of lime in 1927.

Mr. Lamm has the plot fenced so that no livestock will be grazing on the plot. Sometime in July the seven plots will be cut and the amount of vegetation on each plot will be weighed to determine which plot has made the most growth, highest quality of feed, and freeness of weeds.

Two-Garden Area Practical

Way To Avoid Regular Drain On Soil Fertility

A two-area garden is a good way of avoiding the continued drain on the soil fertility and the building up of plant diseases that result from growing the vegetables in the same spot year after year. Many Missouri farm families are using this plan, points out Clyde Cunningham, extension horticulturist of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

The two-area system means that the garden is grown in one area this year and the other the next. Such rotation gradually aids in building up the fertility so badly needed with gardens—and also reduces losses from insects and plant diseases.

One of the most practical ways for you to use this two-garden-area plan is to have the areas adjoining the laying house for hens. Thus while one area—after being manured, fertilized and plowed the previous fall—is growing vegetables, the other serves as a range for hens This range area, by being seeded to small grains, lespedeza and other legumes can furnish much green feed to the hens. Then in the fall it can be made ready for next year's garden.

The size and shape of the two pieces of ground will be determined by the needs of the family for garden crops and the requirements of the hens for green feed. An arrangement making possible long rows will enable one to cultivate vegetables with power tools.

Several Pettis County farm families who are setting up Balanced Farm plans expect to re-arrange their gardens and hen yards this way in the next year or so. They include Harry Runge, Elliott Schupp, Leo Hoehns, and Marvin Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Moore of LaMonte have set up a three-garden area, with baby chicks included in the rotation rather than the hens. The Moore's buildings are about surrounded by timber and the creek so there is no place near by where range shelters and free range can be used satisfactorily.

A small field adjoining the house has been divided into 4 plots with the 3 upper ones amounting to ½ acre each. One of these will be the family garden each year, a second in red clover for the chicks and the third in oats and first year red clover which may be used at times for calf pasture The fourth plot which is at the bottom of the slope will be for the laying hens and is large enough that it could be divided and part of it used for garden or truck crops each year too. The 3 upper fields will be so arranged that no drainage or filth can wash from one lot to another. That way the baby chicks can be on new, clean ground, each year.

Demonstration Week May 6-12

Special Programs Be Given By The Extension Clubs

Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World is the theme of Home Demonstration Week, May 6-12. Special programs will be given by the home economics extension clubs of Pettis County. In planning for these programs Miss Alice Alexander, home demonstration agent, suggests that it would be wise to take a close-up look at homes—those institutions for the benefit of which people are expending their time, energy, and talents.

Lots of things happen in homes—important things. Many of them center about the physical needs of the human race for food, shelter, and clothing; and we need not apologize for our interest in these needs. We should feel apologetic, however, if we consider only the physical needs that food, shelter, and clothing satisfy and forget the human hungers for security, affection, recognition, new experience, esthetic enjoyment, and sense of achievement, which are often met at the same time with the tools of food, clothing, and shelter. Undoubtedly, they could be much more completely met if we were to give more thought to the matter.

Homes Are Important

We shall need to remind ourselves that though they make few banner headlines, homes are important.

Let's not scorn food, shelter, and clothing, and house furnishings. With them as our instruments let us build toward finr human relationships which seem to be the greatest single need of the moment. Let's not be afraid of the words, freedom, democracy, peace, remembering that, in miniature, many, and perhaps most, of the problems that beset the world beset the family, and as the families try to solve their problems so do nations try to work out their destinies We need to remind ourselves, too, that friendships are between people before they can be between nations! and they are likely to be biult up in rather old-fashioned ways.

Suit On Account Over Corn Sale

A suit on account was filed by Dr. A. J. Campbell against Ike Ash Friday in the Pettis county circuit court.

The plaintiff asks judgment for $138 on an estimated 120 bushels of corn at a ceiling price said by the defendant to be $1.15 per bushel, alleged to have been sold by Dr. Campbell to the defendant in December, 1945.

The petition states that Ash has failed to report the weights or to pay as stipulated under contract, after having hauled the corn from Dr. Campbell's farm.

W. W. Blain is the attorney for the plaintiff.

18 Churches Represented At Luncheon

Church Women Hear Interesting Talk By Mrs. Bird Campbell

The annual May luncheon of the Council of Church Women was held at 1:00 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Epworth Methodist church with an attendance of 160 women representing eighteen churches of he city.

Mrs. W. A. Green, Epworth church, president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with the singing of "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Verses of the hymn, "A Charge to Keep," was sung at intervals during the meeting, with Mrs. C. D. Demand, of the First Methodist church, as accompanist.

The litany, with Mrs. Emmett Hurley, Sacred Heart church, as leader, was followed by Scripture reading by Mrs. J. C. Franks of the Calvary Episcopal church, after which the Lord's Prayer was said in unison and litany, with Miss Helen Bowers, of the Congregational-Presbyterian church as leader.

Mrs. Bird Campbell, of the Assembly of God church, who was the speaker of the afternoon, gave an inspiring talk on the challenges before our people today. With end of the war, the speaker said, one door is closed and another door is opened and beyond that open door a great world stretches forth. There is a challenge to the church to rediscover the home. Men are coming back from overseas hunting a place to take their families and there are no homes to be found. The world is going at such a rapid pace that things are changing and methods must change, too. There are children in the United States who have never been to Sunday school or church. The church must arise, must become stronger in power, and God will guide us in gathering the families into the church.

There is a challenge to the home, Mrs. Campbell said. The two most beloved words are home and mother. They go together. When a woman has a husband who is ill and unable to work or is left alone with a family it is all right to work, she can do nothing else, but when it is not necessary for her to earn a living her place is in her home. The first thing a child says when he opens the door is "Mother." When she is not there the house is empty. It would be wise to have a sacred altar in the home, a family prayer in the evening. God comes first, the speaker said. There is a wave of juvenile delinquency. Now is the time to reach out, to cultivate the minds of the children. This is our opportunity. If we lived in our homes we would have to do much less talking.

There is a challenge to the community. There are so many under privileged families. "Love thy neighbor as thyself." And who are our neighbors. Not just the people next door, the speaker said, but all of the people of the community, of the United States, of the world. With the coming of the end of the war came the opening of a great door. Like a huge May pole with children of all nations holding the ribbons. If they just stand and hold the ribbons it means nothing. But when they dance about the pole the weave the bright ribbons into a beautiful May pole. When we bring ourselves together and mold ourselves with one thought, "Love," we will have peace.

The dedication of the offering was given by Mrs. Herman Janssen of the Broadway Presbyterian church and the closing prayer by Mrs. Abe Rosenthal of Temple Beth El.

The tables were decorated with candles in pastel shades and bowls of spring flowers. Favors, which were made by Mrs. F. A. Clark, of Epworth church, who is confined to her home following an accident last December, were fan shaped bits of lace paper on which were tied small sprays of yellow flowers called pots of gold.

Mrs. W. G. Martin and her committee, responsible for the luncheon, were called in and thanked.

The business meeting, which followed the program, was presided over by Mrs. Green, at which time Mrs. Verney Engholm, of the Epworth Methodist church, who is president of the Parent-Teacher council, gave a report on the necessity of production and conservation of food to feed the millions of starving people in other countries. We can not have a staple, peaceful world, Mrs Engholm said, until famine is defeated.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel, of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, gave the secretary's report.

Mrs. J. W. Watts, of the East Broadway Christian church, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the nominations for officers to serve until January, and all were unanimously elected. They are Mrs. A. E. Jackson, Calvary Episcopal church, president; Mrs. Abe Rosenthal, vice president; Mrs. Ernest Liebel, secretary, and Miss Agnes Quinn, Sacred Heart, treasurer. Standing committees will remain the same.

Mrs. Herbert Zoernig then presented Mrs. Green, retiring president, with a gift of appreciation from the Council of Church Women.

Three new churches joined the council and the members were introduced and welcomed in. They were Mrs. Ervin Kelley of the Gospel Tabernacle; Mrs. A. M. Crawley, of the Church of the Open Bible, and Mrs. M. E. Wicker of the Pentecostal Church of God.

Smith-Cotton Students at Booster Club

Speak on School Bond Election and Sedalia's Needs

The Sedalia Booster club held its May meeting at noon Monday at the Missouri Pacific shops with F. G. Rose, chief booster, presiding.

Mr. Rose spoke briefly about the housing situation and the part Sedalia will play in relieving conditions. This was followed by reference to sales for the railroad.

"One of the main purposes of this meeting," he stated, "is to hear discussions of the school bond issue to be voted on Tuesday." He introduced Miss Rosalie Marshall, Smith-Cotton high school senior, who gave a ten-minute talk on the subject, outlining poor conditions of the schools, their fire hazards, etc. She culminated her speech by urging everyone to vote Tuesday, and, above all, to vote Yes.

Student Speaker

Sam Highleyman, also a Smith-Cotton student, gave a ten minute speech revealing the advantage of a junior college for Sedalia, comparing the cost of sending a student away to college with the cost of giving a pupil two years of further schooling in his own home town.

The Smith-Cotton high school band, directed by Ralph Guenther, presented selections preceding and during the meeting and Misses Barbara Haggard and Lois Barker gave a baton twirling exhibition.

C. R. Kilbury, superintendent of shops, closed the meeting with remarks relative to the bond issue, output of passenger cars and locomotives and maintenance of the safety record.

Had Nine Baby Wolves

Ready to Take Grain Under Bonus Plan

Will Be Purchased For Shipment to Starving Countries

The County Triple-A Office is now in a position to accept wheat and corn under the newly announced 30 cents per bushel bonus plan.

Jas. A. Harvey, County Chairman stated the grain will be purchased by the government for shipment to starving countries. Any farmer desiring to obtain 30 cents per bushel above the ceiling price for either corn or wheat on hand, should contact the County AAA Committee.

The Missouri goal for wheat is 1,150,000 bushels. No State corn goal was announced.

Harvey stated shipments of grain fell far below our commitments in the first four months of the year. As a result the Department of Agriculture has offered to pay farmers a bonus of 30 cents a bushel on deliveries of wheat through May 25. Farmers may receive a bonus of 30 cents a bushel for corn until the national goal of 50,000,000 bushels is reached. To be eligible for the bonus the corn must be delivered before the national goal is reached.

To Export Wheat

Most of the wheat will be exported as grain and will not be processed in this country. The corn will be exported as whole grain for human consumption and as processed meal and grits. A small amount of the processed corn will be available for the manufacture of essential products in this country. This will be principally starches under the program will be used for feed.

Farmers delivering wheat may still use the certificate plan through which they are able to name a later date for payment if they feel the price of wheat may rise. The Chairman said: "We are giving farmers an opportunity to sell their corn and obtain the bonus if they so desire. The real drive, however, is for wheat, since wheat is bread and bread is the staff of life for millions."

Neighbors Are Starving

Harvey concluded: "Even though we fail to remember the suffering in Asia and Europe, we cannot disregard General MacArthur's report to the President, that he must have either more food or more soldiers to maintain peace. We are now living in a world community and neighbors are starving. The easiest way to bring about permanent world peace is to provide adequate food for those who are hungry. We are given this opportunity as well as a chance to cash in on an additional 30 cents per bushel. if we see our way clear to turn in grain now."

Red Cross Corner

The annual meeting of the Pettis County Chapter for the year April 1945-April 1946 was held in the probate court room of the court house last Tuesday night. A new board of directors was elected, and the members of this board will hold their first meeting at Red Cross headquarters this coming Wednesday morning at 10:30.

The Nurse Aids Corps met at the home of their chairman, Mrs. E. F. Yancey,, last Thursday night, at which time presentation was made of bars and certificates, to those eligible to receive them. Several Aides were given the additional silver stripes which are worn on the bars. Those not present at the meeting may secure their bars and certificates at the Red Cross office. After the business meeting a social hour was held. A special guest was Mrs. J. F. Van Osdell, a former instructor of the Nurse Aides, and also Miss B. L. Bradfield, superintendent of Nurses at the Bothwell hospital. A group of the Aides are on the reserve list, and are on regular schedule at the hospital. According to instructions received from National headquarters, the corps will continue to operate on a reserve status for an indifinite period.

Three church groups, those of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Fifth Street Methodist church and Sacred Heart church, were presented with bars and certificates during the past week by Miss Agnes Quin, chairman of surgical dressings. All other members of this department who did not work as a group member, may obtain their bars and certificates at the Red Cross office.

At the recent annual meeting one fact was brought out and stressed by the chapter chairman, Philip McLaughlin, that the work of the Pettis County Chapter has not stopped, nor even lessened because of the cessation of war hostilities. The work of the chapter is continuing, and will continue. If anything, it is increasing. Your interest in, and support of, your Red Cross Chapter is urged.

Small In Call The Coal Mines Be Seized

American industry to grind to a rude stop."

The chief executive expressed opinion that payments by employers to unions are barred by the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

Asked whether he would seize the mines, Mr. Truman said he would cross that bridge when he came to it. In the senate, Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) reminded that the President's wartime authority for such seizure is tied to the draft act and will expire May 15 unless the draft is continued. As a stopgap, the senate promptly voted an extension until July 1 but this action now requires concurrence by the house, which has passed a different draft bill.

The post office department during the day banned parcel post shipments weighing more than 11 pounds. The action was taken in connection with the freight embargo and was designed to prevent shippers affected by the freight ban from turning to the mails.

Limit Freight Shipments

The Office of Defense Transportation ordered rail freight shipments limited to food, fuel and other essentials, and a 25 percent cut in passenger service. A similar order was held over the heads of the motor carriers unless they restrict truck movements to essential commodities.

Ted Rodgers, president of the American Trucking Associations, said in a statement that "the trucking industry, already handling a substantial portion of the transportation load, will accommodate its operations to relieve the rail situation. In view of the fact that the coal shortage is also curtailing industrial operations to a marked extent, I am confident that we can meet the responsibility."

Mr. Truman said he would seize the railroads if that becomes necessary. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers—two major operating unions—have scheduled a walkout May 18. Mr. Truman exhibited some optimism that this strike would not materialize, however. The railroad workers have gone back to work on the few occasions when the government took over operations. The miners have not always done so.

An agreement with Lewis to order the strikers back to their pits might be necessary before Mr. Truman would take over the mines, in the opinion of some labor officials. The President said he had not gone into the subject of acting to end the strike without Lewis' acquiesence, but that a survey is being made now of those matters.

Edward R. Burke, head of the Southern Coal Producers Association, informed of Mr. Truman's statement about the Wagner Act, said that is the position of the operators, but that he also is interested in amending the penal code to make it an offense for a union to collect a royalty or for an employer to pay it.

Burke explained that the Wagner Act's section 8 makes it an unfair labor practice for an employer to contribute financially or otherwise to a union. He said the operators could, however, contribute to a health and welfare fund for the miners if the money were administered by an independent agency such as the Red Cross. They made such an offer to Lewis March 26, but he rejected it along with other counter proposals.

CPA Chief Small said that despite brownouts and local rationing of electric power to industry, more than half the government's emergency stock of soft coal has been used.

Emergency appeals alone are coming in at such a rate that if the Solid Fuels Administration were to approve them all the remaining coal reserve would vanish in less than 24 hours," his report added.

House Votes For Subsidy

Approves $400,000,000 In A Housing Plan

By FRANCIS M LE MAY

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—Reversing its position, the house today approved $400,000,000 in housing subsidies, giving President Truman a victory in his program for construction of 2,700,000 houses by private enterprise in two years.

The vote was 187 to 158.

Wilson W. Wyatt, Housing Administrator, immediately declared: "This throws the veterans housing program into high gear."

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the house banking committee said this means the housing bill will be on Mr. Truman's desk "in a day or two."

The house a month ago rejected 161 to 92 a proposal for $600,000,000, in housing subsidies, but some southern Democrats who teamed with Republicans in the earlier vote sided today with the administration.

In today's roll call vote, 155 Democrats were joined by 30 Republicans and two minor party members in support of the subsidy program—described by Mr. Truman as the "very heart" of the housing program. Opposing were 25 Democrats and 133 Republicans.

This was the first test vote on administration economic policy since the house members took 10 days off at Eastertime and many went home to learn how their constituents felt about things in general.

The housing bill came back to the house as the senate-house conference committee deadlocked on the administration's proposal for use of $600,000,000 in subsidies to encourage larger production of scarce building materials. The senate had voted to authorize the subsidies after the house rejected them.

Spence moved today that the house instruct its conferee to accept a compromise figure of $400,000,000 and the motion carried.

The house-senate conference committee now will meet again. Spence said this will be merely a formality.

Life Termers Walked Away

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9.—(AP)—Two life termers who used a legal tangle to gain temporary freedom were apprehended this morning at Flat River and will be returned to the Missouri penitentiary, the State Highway Patrol annouced today

The Patrol said the men, Joseph Montgomery, 26, and Lawrence Young, 28, offered no resistance at being brought back for safe keeping until their legal status can be determined. They were sentenced to life terms from St. Francois county in February, 1941, on charges of kidnaping, robbery and car theft.

Last fall the Cole county circuit court granted writs of habeas corpur remanding the men to the St Francois county court for further action

Yesterday Sheriff Herman Heck of St. Francois county brought the pair to Jefferson City, but prison officials refused to accept them because the sheriff had no commitment papers. Later he took them to Sheriff Jobe's office and left them, then walked out.

Allen, contending that no one had a right to hold the men legally, told Sheriff Jobe the men should be permitted to go free.

"No objections were made to the jury and they just walked out."

"It will give you prosperity, justice and peace."

His statement evoked long applause.

Abdication By Italy's King In Favor Of Son

Emanuele III And Queen, Elena, Sails For Exile

NAPLES, May 9—(AP)—Vittorio Emanuele III, tired little king of Italy, formally abdicated in favor of his son Umberto the throne he has held for almost 46 years and sailed tonight with his queen, Elena, into voluntary exile.

Once idolized by his people, the 76-year-old monarch was blamed with the downfall of Mussolini for sharing responsibility for Italy's woes, and many Italians long have demanded his abdication.

He had succeeded to the throne July 29, 1900, when his father, Umberto I, was assassinated near Milan.

Crown Prince Umberto, who was appointed lieutenant-general of the realm by his father nearly two years ago, was expected to assume the title of King Umberto II.

The abdication act was signed at 3:15 p. m., and four hours later the king and queen boarded the cruiser Duke of Abruzzi. It sailed shortly after 8 p. m., escorted by two destroyers. In Rome a minister of the royal house said the king's destination was Cairo.

Italy will vote June 2 to decide whether it wants a monarchy or republic. It had been predicted that King Vittorio would step down in hopes of strengthening the chances for Umberto to keep the throne for the house of Savoy.

Crown Prince Arrives

Crown Prince Umberto arrived at his father's villa at Posilipo near Naples just before noon.

A royal household informant in Rome said that Umberto would return to the capital tonight with the instrument of abdication signed by his father.

It was reported that Allied authorities had been advised of the king's "irrevocable" decision to surrender the throne.

In Rome, Rear Adm. Ellery Stone, head of the Allied commission in Italy, confirmed that the Italian government had kept the Allies informed of all developments in connection with the abdication.

Umberto spent the entire afternoon at the royal villa in discussions with his father and other members of the royal family. A cordon of Carabinieri was thrown across the entrance to the villa, and the port area was also closely guarded.

Says Bitter Price

In yielding his throne, King Vittorio Emanuele paid the final bitter price for surrendering 24 years earlier to Mussolini and Fascism.

For two years, he had been a king in name only, after surrendering his royal prerogatives to Umberto as lieutenant general of the realm when the Allies captured Rome.

His last days of power had been marked by a veritable game of hide and seek with the Germans. In collaboration with Old Marshal Badoglio, he had given over Italy to the Allies, only to see the Germans turn his kingdom into one of Europe's worst battlegrounds.

When he finally found asylum with the Allies he had fought, he started denouncing Mussolini and Hitler and trying to repair some of their actions in Italy. But was too late. While Allied armies painfully advanced north, Vittorio Emanuele was greeted wherever he showed himself with cries demanding his abdication.

He had been an idol of the Italians after the first World War, when he led his country against the Germans and Austria-Hungry. He won a reputation as a sympathetic monarch, interested in his people's welfare.

Vittorio Emanuele acquiesced to Mussolini's demands that led to a Fascist dictatorship, although Badoglio was at his side in October, 1922, willing to smash the upstart with a regiment of troops.

The king remained in the background during the bombastic days of Italian Fascism, allowing Mussolini to dub him "emperor of Ethiopia" after that warm-up campaign in the great war.

Cochran's trial in the Jenkins slaying is scheduled for May 27.

No Appointment Yet

WASHINGTON, May 9—(AP)—An appointment to fill a vacancy on the supreme court apparently is no nearer than it was a week ago.

President Truman had nothing to say about it at a news conference today except that the situation remains the same. Last week he talked of the difficulty of getting capable men for government service.

Famine Relief Is Inadequate

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—UNRRA Director General Fiorello Laguardia declared today that famine relief food allocations are "grossly inadequate," and besought countries with available supplies to help "prevent a catastrophe."

Laguardia placed before the 48-government council of the Inter-relief organization the results of his study and efforts since the group adjourned five weeks ago at Atlantic City. And the situation outlined in his report appeared as bleak now as then.

Even before the session opened, a council move was anticipated to back Laguardia in seeking a bigger allocation from the combined food board, set up by Britain, Canada and the United States.

Laguardia declared in his report that UNRRA at present cannot learn "even a month in advance what it can count upon." This situation places receiving countries "in a hopeless position in attempting to plan food rationing," he added.

Find Money in An Old Barn

MARYVILLE, Mo, May 9.—(AP)—Two 13-year-old boys exploring an old barn last week set off an investigation which led to the arrest of J. W. Linneman, mail messenger, on charges of stealing an insured mail pouch containing $600.

The youths, Roger Willis and Richard Fisher, crawled into an old barn and found quarters, dimes and nickels in an old steamer trunk. They filled their pockets with dimes, secreted them in a garage at Willis' home. But the secret was too good to keep.

The result was an investigation and the arrest of Linneman, 54, the father of five sons and a daughter.

M. W. Stauffer, postmaster, said the pouch disappeared last Thursday night while being transferred between the Wabash and Burlington stations. The money was being consigned from the First National bank at St. Joseph to a Pattonsburg bank.

Stauffer said $160 of the money was found in an air vent in the basement of the postoffice.

Search Spreads For Slayer

TEXARKANA, Texas, May 9.—(AP)—Intensified search spread over east and central Texas today for the man who told a negro at Lufkin, "I've killed five people around Texarkana and I'll have to make it six if you don't get me where I want to go."

The Negro, Herbert Thomas, of Kilgore, was forced to drive the man from Kilgore to Lufkin Tuesday night. Yesterday state police said they were checking a report from Mexia City police that a man answering the description given by Thomas had been picked up by a motorist near there and taken to Oakwood, near by.

The Negro described the man as red-headed, hatless and khaki clad and about 26 years old.

Report of his being in Lufkin had the city upset, the Lufkin News said,

But there were no reassuring reports that the "phantom killer" who police believe responsible for five deaths in and near Texarkana was being hemmed in.
